Oswald Slain by Dallas Nightclub Owner

Police Say Proof Found Of Killing

DALLAS, Nov. 25 (AP)—Lee Harvey Oswald may have left behind in death a blueprint for the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. Oswald was slain Sunday by Jack Ruby, 52, a night club owner and self-appointed executioner, who undertook swift, savage reprisal for the Kennedy murder. Hours later, the Dallas Morning News, in a copyrighted story, said police officers who searched Oswald's room found a map with a line on it marking the path of the bullet that killed the President during a motorcade Friday.

Neither the FBI nor the secret service would comment on the news report. The newspaper quoted what it termed a reliable source as saying:

"This was a map of the city of Dallas. Oswald had placed marks at major intersections along the motorcade route—three or four as I recall. There was also a line from the Texas school book depository building to Elm street. This was the trajectory of the bullets which struck the President and Gov. (John) Connally."

The map may have constituted what police termed "major evidence" against Oswald in Kennedy's assassination, but which they had refused to reveal.

The News said officers theorized Oswald marked spots on the map from which a sniper could get a good shot at the Kennedy motorcade.

Meanwhile, from Mexico City came another report—this time that Oswald visited the Soviet and Cuban consuls in September and tried to get a visa.

The newspaper Excelsior attributed its report to a high official source which it did not name.

Oswald died Sunday with a single bullet wound in his side, fired by Ruby as he stepped from a crowd of 200 in the basement of the Dallas city hall.

"It's too good for him!" someone shouted after the 24-year-old self-styled communist dropped in his tracks, a single cry of anguish escaping his lips. Police quickly overwhelmed and disarmed Ruby.

"He took Kennedy's death much harder than that of our 88-year-old father five years ago," said Ruby's older sister, Eva Grant. "He couldn't eat Friday. He kept talking about Jackie and the Kennedy kids."

Oswald had been formally accused of the sniper assassination of Kennedy last Friday as the President rode beaming beside his wife, Jacqueline Kennedy, in a triumphal motorcade through downtown Dallas.

Also wounded in the shooting was Texas Gov. John Connally, who is recovering. Later, authorities said, Oswald shot to death a Dallas policeman, J. D. Tippit, who—unwittingly or otherwise—interrupted his getaway flight.

The first reaction of Dallas police to Oswald's murder was to mark the assassination case closed, and concentrate on trying to convict Ruby.

But federal officials felt otherwise. President Johnson ordered a full government probe of Oswald's slaying, and the FBI proposed further investigation into the presidential assassination with the hopes of eventually giving the slaying a meaning.

Revenge for Policeman Been Motive

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 25 (AP)—Former business associate of Jack Ruby said last night he believed Ruby killed Lee Harvey Oswald to avenge the slaying of a Dallas policeman, J. D. Tippit, more than a month ago, he said.

"I think Ruby just got himself a impulse," Kelly said, "and acted on him (Oswald)."

"But if Ruby did kill Oswald for revenge, I believe it would be over President Kennedy," Kelly added.

"Ruby wasn't very interested in politics," Kelly said. "I doubt he even voted." Asked if his former associate wasn't at all patriotic, he replied:

"The only patriotism he had was for the President's picture on the back."

Kelly described Ruby as "both extremely generous and very violent. He'd give you the shirt off his back one moment and be hitting you the next," but was a person of extreme loyalty to the policeman Tippit.

"Ever hear of a fire buff? Well, Ruby was a police buff," Kelly explained. "He just liked police."

Millions Watch Murder on Television, Many Judge It Revolt Against Justice

By The Associated Press

Millions of television viewers throughout the nation watched in horror Sunday as a man was committed. It was the first time so many people witnessed a real homicide.

Many looked beyond the aspects of the spectacle and in the deed some type of justice worked against Lee Harvey Oswald, the man accused, not convicted, as assassin of President Kennedy only two days before.

The overwhelming majority of those polled felt that the slaying of a man still innocent in the eyes of the law had been slain at the hands of a murderer.

Rolland R. O'Hare, Detroit, district attorney, expressed fear that "due process of the law is on the verge of becoming a victim of assassination."

Dallas Mayor Earle Cabell issued an urgent appeal "for all of us to come to our senses, to resist hysteria."

The Rev. Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, president of the Lutheran church in America and chairman of the central committee of the World Council of Churches said:

"Life, as the gift of God, deserves to be respected far more than it is, and self-control ought to be restored to its rightful standing among the Christian graces where the Bible puts it."

"Good," said Chicago cab driver Carl Moore. "It was justified. The man who did it was a nut. But he (Oswald) got what he deserved."

First Letters

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (AP)—The first two letters Lyndon B. Johnson signed as President were to the two children whose father is buried today.

The letters to Caroline Kennedy, 6 years old Wednesday, and John F. Kennedy, Jr., 3 years old today, told them at the beginning they perhaps are too young to understand it all now.

Johnson wrote them last Friday just after his return from Texas and only hours after he had been sworn in to succeed their slain father in the highest office of the nation.

Youth Shot In Hunting Accident

EDEN, Nov. 25—Robert Brown, 15, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Brown, Eden, was listed in good condition at St. Benedict's hospital, Jerome, after he was accidentally shot by his hunting partner about 2 p.m. Sunday.

Brown was accidentally shot by Gene Yost, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ren Yost, Eden, with a .410 shotgun while hunting pheasants about one-fourth mile south of here.

It was reported that the Brown youth was walking about 20 feet in front of Yost when the gun was accidentally discharged, shooting Brown in the right hip.

The Brown youth was taken to St. Benedict's hospital by Ren Yost.

President Johnson Attends Funeral, Readies for His Job

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (UPI)—President Johnson led his fellow citizens and the mighty of the Earth today in mourning a fallen comrade, John Fitzgerald Kennedy. He started his third full day as chief executive at 9:52 a.m. EST when he left his home in northwest Washington in a limousine escorted by motorcycle police and a secret service car. The new chief executive of the United States, ramrod-straight,

Rites to Be Held This Afternoon

Brief memorial services will be conducted at 5 p.m. today in front of the Twin Falls county courthouse by members of both Twin Falls units of the national guard, the army reserve unit, the air force reserve recovery squadron and the American Legion.

Chaplain William T. Armstrong, Twin Falls, will give a brief talk and a prayer in honor of the late President John F. Kennedy. The color guards will then raise the American flag and then lower it. While the taps are being played at the close of the services, all reservists will render a salute to the President.

British Poem Penned on Kennedy

LONDON, Nov. 25 (AP)—British poet Laureate John Masefield today published a poem entitled "John Fitzgerald Kennedy."

The tribute read:

"All generous hearts lament the leader killed,
The young chief with the smile, the radiant face,
The winning way that turned a wondrous race
Into sublimer pathways, leading on."
Grant to us life that though the man be gone
The promise of his spirit be fulfilled."

President Honored at Simple Mass

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (UPI)—The soul of John Fitzgerald Kennedy, 35th president of the United States, was commended today to the care and mercy of God. At a simple Roman Catholic funeral mass, conducted by an old friend, the grief-stricken Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy and her little boy and girl heard these words of comfort and promise: "Life is not taken away. It is but changed." And from the words of Christ, recorded by St. John: "I am the resurrection and the life; he who believes in me, even if he die, shall live."

T. F. Man Witnesses Dallas Grief

"There was grief on the faces of Dallas residents and several were crying when they heard the late President John F. Kennedy was dead," John Birrell, Twin Falls, salesman for the Seven-Up Bottling company, said Monday morning concerning the reaction he saw and felt while he was attending a convention in Dallas.

Birrell was in Dallas last week for the international bottlers convention at which President Lyndon B. Johnson was featured speaker during the opening day of the convention.

"We were in a merchantile store in Dallas when we heard the news that President Kennedy had been shot," Birrell explained. "People were standing around unbelieving that a thing like that could happen in Dallas. There was grief on their faces."

"When the word was given out that the President was dead, we were in the Baker hotel coffee shop, and everyone was listening to the radio, including the waitresses. Then a man stood up and said to everyone, 'At this moment everyone should give a short prayer for the President and his family.'"

"Almost immediately most of the stores and business firms closed their doors. People in town seemed very grief stricken about it. I talked to a waitress before my wife and I left Dallas Saturday morning, and she said she was going to try and get a transfer because she was so ashamed. Several people have said they were ashamed that it could happen there."

"After President Kennedy was shot and everyone heard the news, there was silence. People could not believe it. Most of them had watched the President on television, giving a speech in Ft. Worth."

"At the time the fatal shots were fired, we were about two blocks from the scene in the mercantile store."

"Almost immediately the city of Dallas was full of people and traffic. There were traffic jams all afternoon."

Among them also were the towering General Charles de Gaulle of France; Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan; Prince Philip of Great Britain, and a host of other chiefs of state, kings, premiers, ministers, and special emissaries.

"The pontifical requiem mass preceding burial on a grassy slope in Arlington national cemetery, was conducted in the 65-year-old St. Matthews cathedral by Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston, the friend and pastor who had performed the Kennedys' marriage ceremony in 1953 and baptized their children, Caroline and John, Jr."

Caroline will be six on Wednesday. The slain President's beloved "John-John" was three today—the day of his father's funeral.

The last journey for the man who will always be remembered by his countrymen as the jaunty and buoyant and deeply dedicated President began at 10:48 a.m. EST.

Ruby Plea Is Temporary Insanity

DALLAS, Nov. 25 (AP)—Jack Ruby will plead temporary insanity in the shooting of Lee Harvey Oswald, his attorney said today.

"I think he was probably temporarily out of his mind," Attorney Tom Howard said.

District Attorney Henry Wade last night said he would demand the maximum penalty for the 52-year-old nightclub owner. Ruby was booked on charges of murder with malice.

"I will seek the death penalty for Ruby even if he pleads guilty because shooting a handcuffed man deserves the death penalty," Wade said.

Buhl Church Services Are Scheduled

BUHL, Nov. 25—Special seasonal holiday services are announced by the various churches of Buhl.

Union Thanksgiving services, an annual event sponsored by the Buhl Ministerial association, start at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the First Christian church. The Rev. Sheldon Slagel, pastor of the Assembly of God church, will give the sermon.

Ministers of other churches of the association, including the First Methodist church, First Baptist church, Assembly of God church and Church of the Nazarenes, also will take part in the services. Highlight of the service will be a special memorial in honor of President John F. Kennedy.

Special music will be provided and a following hour will follow.

A solemn high mass will be celebrated at 9 a.m. Thursday at the Buhl Catholic church of the Immaculate Conception, announced the Rev. Jerome T. O'Connor, pastor. Blessing of the crops will precede the service.

A special Thanksgiving worship service starts at 11 a.m. Thursday at St. John's Lutheran church. The Rev. Maynard Hildendorf, pastor, will speak on the sermon topic, "In Abundance." Children of the congregation will sing a special number. Family night services will be held at 8 p.m. Friday at the church. Feature of the evening will be the showing of the new feature length color movie, "A Letter to Nancy."

The public is invited to attend any or all of the services.

Final rites will be held at the Halley cemetery under the direction of the Masonic Lodge. Friends may call at Bergin funeral home Tuesday evening and at the church Tuesday until time of services. Family suggestions memorials be made to the Shrine Hospital for Crippled Children, Salt Lake City, or to the Children's Home society, Boise.

RUPERT—Services for Mrs. Faye Madeline Miller are scheduled for 2 p.m. Wednesday at Walk mortuary chapel with the Rev. Raymond A. Thompson, officiating. Final rites will be conducted in the Rupert cemetery.

Gooding Slates Holiday Service

GOODING, Nov. 25—A union Thanksgiving service will be conducted at 8 p.m. Wednesday at the Christian church.

The event sponsored by the Gooding Ministerial association will feature the Rev. Lowell G. Henke, pastor of the Nazarene church, as speaker.

There will be special music and a song service directed by Mrs. Don Carico. Ministers will participate from the Assembly of God, Trinity Episcopal, Methodist, Christian, Nazarene and Baptist churches.

2 Scout Events Are Postponed

Postponement of two Boy Scout events was announced here. Maurice Querry, Jr., Castleford, who is district chairman of the Sunset district, said the annual meeting has been postponed one week to Dec. 2. It will be held at 7 p.m. next Monday at the First Baptist church in Buhl with the Rev. Robert Burchell as master of ceremonies. District Commissioner George Stinger will present awards to leaders.

Dr. John McNea, Twin Falls, announced the swimming and lifesaving course set for Monday has been postponed until a later date. Technical difficulties at the pool caused the postponement.

Bliss Grangers Sponsor Contest

BLISS, Nov. 25—Bliss Grangers, under the leadership of Master Fred Heimlich, agreed Friday to sponsor the "Hire the Handicapped" essay contest on the local level this year. The contest will run Jan. 15.

Mrs. Doran Butler, lecturer, used the Thanksgiving theme in readings.

Members voted to raise the dues of members to meet the other Grange dues in the area. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Butler.

The next meeting is set Dec. 6 when a film on insurance will be shown by Fred Loyoke, Gooding.

Weather, Temperatures

Magic Valley—Partly cloudy tonight and Tuesday. Areas of night and morning valley fog or low cloudiness. A little warmer today, cooler tonight. Outlook for Wednesday, variable cloudiness with little change in temperature. Twin Falls and vicinity, high temperatures today and Tuesday, 38 to 45; lows tonight, 22 to 27. Camas prairie, high temperatures today and Tuesday, 32 to 38; lows tonight, zero to 10 above. Temperature 38, humidity 85 percent, wind north at three miles per hour at 12 noon Monday at Twin Falls weather bureau office.

FIVE-DAY FORECAST
Fast westerly flow is forecast to continue from the Pacific across the Intermountain region during the next five days. A more northerly storm track is indicated from this pattern with Pacific storm systems moving inland across British Columbia and southwestern Canada.

Temperatures under this pattern will average near seasonal normals with no major changes through next Saturday. Slightly higher daytime temperatures are expected during the first portion of this period. Maximums will range from the upper 30s to mid 40s and minimums will range in the 20s through Saturday. Temperature normals for this five-day period are Gooding, 42 and 24; Twin Falls, 44 and 23; and Burley, 42 and 24.

Precipitation totals will average from .05 to .15 of an inch for Magic Valley. Showers of rain or snow will occur near mid-week with prospects favorable for a reasonably fair weather day Thanksgiving day.

Sunshine will total around 35 to 40 per cent of possible with daytime cloudiness and early morning fog heavier during the first portion of this week than during the latter portion. Winds will average near normal with speeds of eight to 12 miles per hour. Late fall farm work such as plowing, fertilizing and final beet harvesting will have more favorable weather conditions during this five-day period with improved drying conditions permitting activities to be resumed during the latter part of the week.

CURRENT SUMMARY
The immediate weather pattern shows a Pacific frontal system moving inland around Vancouver and is forecast to continue eastward across southern Canada. Pressures over the Intermountain area have shown rises during the past 24 to 36 hours and should maintain ridge conditions over southern Idaho through the next 36 hours.

Skies will be partly cloudy with early morning fog likely in many valley sections but daytime temperatures will show a slight warming trend with maximums in the 40s. Minimums will sag with readings in the 20s over most of Magic Valley ranging to zero to 10 above for Camas prairie.

TEMPERATURE AND PRECIPITATION
Weather at 6 a.m. CST. Highest temperature Sunday, lowest temperature last 12 hours, precipitation for 24 hours ending at 6 a.m. CST.

Fight for Rights

May Continue

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (AP)—Top congressional strategists believe that President Johnson will continue President Kennedy's drive for enactment of civil rights legislation.

Some think that past commitments may slow the new President's push for some features of the Kennedy legislative program.

However, they feel that Johnson's widely recognized mastery of congressional procedure could enhance chances for approval of a civil rights bill next year.

J.F. Kennedy Honored by Simple Mass

draped casket left the great rounds of the Capitol where three other presidents also had lain in state. It was drawn by seven gray horses to the White House and thence to St. Matthews.

The slain President was followed all the way on his last journey by his lovely 34-year-old widow, who three times had knelt in prayer beneath the Capitol dome beside his casket.

Planked by her brothers-in-law, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy and Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, she walked the six blocks from the White House to the old brick cathedral with its 200-foot high copper-covered dome. She walked exactly firmly, respectfully.

A church bell tolled, a choir on the grass outside the White House sang hymns, drums played a soft tattoo.

Caroline and John, Jr., rode to the old red-brick church in a car. When they joined their mother, John-John, bewildered by the solemnity, cried for a moment.

His mother spoke softly to him, and his tears stopped.

All along the way from the White House to the cathedral and in the streets around the cathedral tens of thousands of Americans stood in silence.

No words came from these countrymen of the man who died at a sniper's hands on Friday. Only an occasional sob.

Among those in the vast and glittering cathedral, with its magnificent red-and-white marble altar was a woman who had been weeping for Jacqueline.

She was Mrs. Eisenhower, whose eyes were wet and red.

A moment before the mass began, Mrs. Kennedy took her children by the hand and led them to where Cardinal Cushing stood to greet them.

As the eight service men bore the casket into the cathedral, they removed their hats. The cardinal, in the resplendent robes of his office, sprinkled holy water upon the still flag-covered coffin.

Behind Mrs. Kennedy in the cathedral sat the leaders of congress and the cabinet and the chiefs of state from other lands.

Mrs. Rose Kennedy, the President's mother, and Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss, Jacqueline's mother, heard the words uttered by Cardinal Cushing.

No flowers were on the altar. Luigi Venia, a Boston tenor who sang at the Kennedy's wedding, came here to sing the Ave Maria at his funeral.

Echoing under the great vault of the church came the words "requiescat in pace"—rest in peace.

The "rest in peace" mass for America's first Roman Catholic president was offered in the presence of 1,200 persons who had come from near and far to make a final gesture of love or respect.

"Life is not taken away . . . life is but changed," intoned white-haired Cardinal Cushing, as he offered the ancient Catholic prayer for the departed:

"Be merciful, we beseech thee, O Lord, to the soul of thy servant, John Fitzgerald Kennedy, whom you have just called out of this world . . . He puts his hope and trust in you: Do not let him undergo the pains of hell; but bring him to happiness without end."

By the side of the grief-stricken widow was Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, the late President's brother and closest to him of all in the closely knit Kennedy family.

St. Matthew's cathedral, which was Kennedy's parish church, is a drab red-brick building with a 200-foot high dome. Standing since 1898, and begrimed by the soot of the downtown area it occupies, it is far from impressive in its external appearance.

But its interior is a glittering example of Romanesque-Byzantine architecture, with pillars of magnificent red-and-white Carrara marble and richly-colored mosaics of Venetian glass. Its showpiece is a magnificent high altar of white marble, carved in India and decorated with colored insets in the same manner as the famed Taj Mahal.

Kennedy's casket rested in front of this altar and just underneath the soaring dome of the cathedral.

In keeping with Catholic liturgical tradition, there were no flowers on the altar or around the casket. The usual white candles on the altar were replaced with candles of unbleached yellow wax, the sign of a funeral mass.

The service conducted by Cardinal Cushing was what is known technically as a "low" mass, which means that it was the simplest type of mass, spoken rather than sung, with a single priest officiating rather than the three who would have been required had the family chosen a solemn high mass.

There was no eulogy. Insofar as the service itself went, the deceased son of the church before the altar might have been an unknown laborer rather than the President of the United States.

The emphasis of the service was strongly focused on the Christian conviction that death is not the end, but the beginning of a larger, eternal life.

Cardinal Cushing read the words of St. Paul in his letter to the Thessalonians warning Christians against falling into the pagan custom of grieving over the dead "as others who have no hope."

"For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, so with him God will bring those also who have fallen asleep through Jesus."

He also read the words of Christ recorded in St. John's gospel:

"I am the resurrection and the life: he who believes in me, even if he die, shall live. Following the mass proper,

Mrs. Nellie Stutzman, 55, Twin Falls, was fined $10 and costs by Twin Falls Police Judge Dale J. Adamson for failure to yield. She was assigned three violation points. Fined $15 and costs for speeding by Judge Adamson was Carl Larsen, Twin Falls. He was assigned three violation points.

Fined for speeding by Bliss Justice of the Peace, Mrs. Ruth Parsons, were Wayne C. Hamcock, 50, Boise, $15; Marion Richard Sutton, 43, Ontario, Ore., $25; Robert Kaleftrier, 33, Boise, $15; James L. Reed, 38, Boise, $18, and Sharon M. Smith, 29, Arco, $21. Each were assigned three violation points.

At least 2,000 others, still waiting in a line stretching blocks away, were left stranded after standing for six to seven hours.

Police steered them to vantage points around the Capitol plaza from which they could see the funeral procession leave for the White House.

The steady shuffle of feet had continued without a break from 3 p.m. Sunday through the afternoon and night as the crowds waited to pay their last respects.

Former Vice President and Mrs. Richard Nixon were among the last to be admitted, along with a small group of officials' families and others, after the waiting line was halted.

Ridicule of

Late President

TOKYO, Nov. 25 (AP)—While the rest of the world, communist and non-communist, mourned the death of President Kennedy, communist China yesterday attacked and ridiculed the President.

It called Kennedy a warmonger and published a scornful cartoon of him.

Diplomatic sources here reported that the Sunday edition of the Peking Worker's daily printed a cartoon with the caption: "Kennedy bites the dust."

The official New China News agency, monitored here, did not let up in its attacks on the President or his successor. The bitter tone of its dispatches was in sharp contrast to the eulogies that came from Moscow and Soviet bloc nations in eastern Europe.

Schools Close

KING HILL, Nov. 25—King Hill schools and all schools in district 192 were dismissed Monday out of respect for President John Kennedy.

All schools in the district will be dismissed Wednesday afternoon for Thanksgiving. Classes will resume on Monday, Dec. 2.

RETURN FROM MEET

KING HILL, Nov. 25—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Greer and Mrs. C. E. Spence and her son, Aaron Huguleit, have returned from Portland, Ore., where they attended the National Grange convention.

J. Kennedy Grieves at His Home

HYANNIS PORT, Mass., Nov. 24—Former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy grieved in the privacy of his summer home today as the rest of the nation paid final homage to his slain son.

Although pronounced fit to travel, the 75-year-old Kennedy decided to remain. His niece, Ann Gargan, and the Rev. John Cavanaugh, long-time friend and president emeritus of the University of Notre Dame, were with him.

Dr. Russell S. Boles, Boston neurologist, said the former ambassador displayed "tremendous courage" upon learning Saturday of his son's assassination. The family waited 21 hours after John P. Kennedy died before telling his father.

Kennedy suffered a stroke two years ago and has been confined to a wheelchair since.

Two Yanks Killed by Guerrillas

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, Nov. 24—Two U. S. air force pilots and a Vietnamese observer apparently were killed yesterday when their propeller-driven B26 bomber was shot down by communist guerrillas, military sources said today.

A U. S. helicopter was downed by the same action without fatalities, but four American soldiers were captured by the communists in a separate raid.

A U. S. military spokesman said the plane's crew was being listed as missing in action for the present, but he added there were no signs of survivors at the scene of the crash.

Two men were seen bailing out of the stricken plane at about 2,000 feet but their parachutes did not open. The third man apparently remained in the plane.

The plane, which belonged to South Viet Nam's U. S.-assisted air force, was on a strafing and bombing mission against guerrilla positions on the Camau peninsula, 10 miles south of Saigon.

Two U. S. helicopter pilots were wounded slightly in another phase of the pursuit action.

Four other U. S. soldiers were reported missing and presumed captured yesterday in a guerrilla raid in another area.

Thirty-seven Vietnamese troops were killed, and a U. S. army lieutenant was critically wounded in the raid.

Mrs. Ambrose Is Honored at Rites

JEROME, Nov. 25—Funeral services for Mrs. Vera M. Ambrose were held Saturday at the Jerome Presbyterian church with the Rev. George R. Barnhart and Chapter 54, Order of Eastern Star, officiating.

Mrs. Robert Golay was soloist and Mrs. John Stelle, Jr., was organist.

Pallbearers were Thurman Hansen, Finnes Ambrose, Mac Ambrose, Buenos Callen, Gene Callen and Clyde Hansen.

Final rites were held at the Jerome cemetery.

DUTY TO GOD award was presented Sunday night to Garry Marshall, left, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Marshall, 240 Locust street north, in the Twin Falls LDS fifth ward chapel. Marshall, who holds the rank of star in the ward's Boy Scout troop, has been active in Scouting for five years. The Duty to God award is based on activities in Scouting and church activities for four consecutive years. (Times-News photo)

WHIRLIGIG

BY ANDREW TULLY
WASHINGTON, Nov. 25—It is an appalling commentary on the ethical climate of this mixed-up town that people are talking as if Bobby Baker, the resigned senate majority secretary, is to be charged with knowing and/or employing some pretty girls. Sex is a red herring being dragged across the trail to conceal the real issue.

That—to state what should be the obvious—is the issue of possible betrayal of the public trust. And yet, as so often in the past, Washington seems far more concerned with what may be illegal than with what patently is unethical. If the capital can be said to live by any code, it is that anything goes so long as it does not break any law.

BUSY, BUT LEGAL—There is no indication so far that Bobby Baker has broken any laws, although an investigation is under way of his alleged failure to file District of Columbia income tax returns. Nor has there been any claim that there was anything unlawful about his many business interests ranging from a meat company in Haiti to a Washington travel agency. On that score, Bobby Baker probably is as clean as any other businessman, which may be damning him with faint praise.

But the evidence is that Bobby Baker, still a precocious 35, has become a wealthy man since achieving the eminence of majority secretary at the age of 23. He owns three expensive homes in Washington and a real estate development company in his native Pickens, S.C., built a fancy seaside motel at Ocean City, Md., and has interests in an insurance agency, a law firm and a South Carolina cemetery, and was a partner in a North Carolina motel with former Gov. Luther Hodges, now secretary of commerce.

WIELDED INFLUENCE—The question taxpayers have a right to ask is whether it was ethical for Bobby Baker to have all these interests while occupying a position in which he exerted considerable influence over the senate of the United States.

Let there be no doubt that Baker exerted such influence. Two liberal Democratic senators, Stephen M. Young, O., and Quentin N. Burdick, N.D., have charged that Baker did them out of seats on the judiciary committee by falsely informing the committee they weren't interested in the assignments. Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D., Ill., has charged that Baker manipulated his powers so as to benefit the conservative southern wing of the party. Freshmen senators were told to "see Bobby" whenever they wanted anything.

There was nothing illegal about this, of course, and if Baker's use of his position to influence legislation was improper it is a pathetic reflection on the U.S. senate. Douglas, Burdick and Young look a trifle silly today protesting that they apparently were helpless to halt the machinations of one of their hired hands. How come they didn't complain before this?

BAKER AND BUCKS—That leaves the only legitimate issue in the case, which is whether Bobby Baker used his position to get rich. Did Bobby Baker swing all those deals because he was plain Bobby Baker from Pickens, S.C., or because he was the senate majority secretary and a close friend and protégé of Vice President Lyndon Johnson? Is his present affluence a tribute to his business acumen, or to the horseassness of other businessmen who recognized the advantages of a dollars-and-cents association with a young man who sat among the mighty?

Business has always been sensitive to the maneuverings of legislatures and dependent upon friends among the politically powerful. You can make a faster buck if you know some big shot on Capitol Hill, and it is important to find out if faster bucks were made because Bobby Baker was busy swinging deals with one hand while manipulating the legislative process with the other. Sure, the girls are pretty—but they're just window dressing in this one.

DR. KRICK CRAPS OUT
A crashpottier who throws a seven before he makes his point is said to have crapped out. That's what Dr. Irving P. Krick, the unconventional weatherman from Denver did in Portland this week.

He predicted two months ago—at the request of the Pacific Logging Congress—that Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week would be lovely days in this city. Specifically, he said the weather would be "fine," with "plenty" of sunshine and "no significant" rain.

He hit it on the nose for Wednesday which was a fine day for this time of year, with lots of sunshine and very little rain. But Thursday and Friday—well! Only a duck or a duck hunter would call that weather fine. The sun shone not at all and the rain was not only significant, it was damned disagreeable.

Orthodox meteorologists who contend no one can predict weather accurately more than a day or so in advance no doubt are chortling at Dr. Krick's lost gamble. But they who change their forecasts several times a day, didn't do so well either. They called for showers with brief clearing periods Wednesday occasional rain Thursday (when it drizzled all day) and cloudy with rain Friday (clouds must have been very low).

Maybe both Dr. Krick and the others should read the Old Farmer's Almanac. Corrected for the West Coast, this New England publication, issued more than a year ago, had this to say about the weather of the past two days: "Gosh what a stench!"—The Oregonian.

DIFFERENT DOG
In a world that's becoming more and more conformist by the day, it's pleasant to run across a case like that of Doc-B.

Doc-B is a German shepherd who was being trained by Richmond's police department for the K-9 corps. But he had a strange personality twist. Doc-B was just as likely to bark happily when he was supposed to growl. When he was supposed to bare his teeth and charge a man in training, nobody knew whether he'd end up wagging his tail and licking hands all around.

He just wouldn't do. He wasn't nearly mean enough. So the police sold Doc-B at auction and he brought $150 offered by a man named Jesse Vaughn.

But if this little story proves that there's a place in the world even for nonconforming German shepherds, it also proves that there are still people around who place a high value on understanding and affection and gentleness.

Indeed, if there were only enough of that kind of people in the world today, there probably wouldn't be any need to train any dogs in the hard school Doc-B flunked out of because he is so gentle.—Norfolk (Va.) Ledger-Star.

PAYOFF
Some leading citizens in Lawrence county, Ark., came up with a crackjack way of getting out the vote in a recent special election. It was a vote on a bond issue, and bond issues are notoriously weak at drawing folks to the polls. Moreover, it was August, and it was 94 degrees outside on election day.

But Lawrence county voters turned out in near-record numbers—4,570 of them—to give thumping approval of the bond issue.

The reason? When they got through voting, citizens could stroll over to the next table and register for a $600 cash prize.

Democracy, like everything else, apparently has a cash value on it. But aren't ordinary elections enough like a gamble already?—Charlotte Observer.

POT SHOTS

GOTTA SNOW-SHOVEL

Dear Potshots:
I've been studying the Old Farmer's Almanac and I'm starting to think this is going to be a real wet winter with lots of snow.

From where I look at things, I'd hazard a guess that this winter's going to be every bit as bad as that one back there in 1948-49.

Already, we've had quite a bit of snow for so early in the year and there's everything to indicate it's only the beginning. Before another month passes, we'll be using chains on our cars just to drive downtown.

NO SWEAT

Dear Pot Shots:
I keep reading about people here and there, but mostly there, complaining about the "new all-digit" phone dialing. Personally, I can't see a bit of difference.

It makes no difference to me whether I look for the numeral "7" or the letter "R" beside the opening I have to use on the dial. And it's certainly no more difficult to remember 73 than to try to recall REEdwood 3.

I think those people hollering about all-digit dialing are just hollering to hear themselves holler. As if there isn't enough stuff far worse in this country to holler about!

CURE FOR INDIGESTION

Dear Pot Shots:
My mother-in-law has a fortune without even realizing it.

It's this way: She eats whatever she wants, anytime she wants to eat, and never gains any weight. Nor is she ever bothered by indigestion.

I don't know just exactly what causes such results unless it's the fact that nothing would dare add to her weight and I know for a fact nothing would dare disagree with her.

FAMOUS LAST LINE

"I suppose you managed to empty the gas tank again, huh?"

GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

COVERING THE CAPITAL WITH PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (NFA)

Only 53 per cent of 3,000 Americans questioned in a "scientifically" conducted national survey think there is a good chance to avoid a third world war.

The poll was taken by the Elmore Roper organization for the Atlantic Council of the United States, Inc.

Atlantic Council is a private organization to promote a stronger alliance between western Europe and North America. Its three honorary chairmen are ex-presidents Hoover, Truman and Eisenhower. Its acting chairman is Gen. Lauris Norstad, former commander in chief of North Atlantic Treaty Organization armed forces.

Carefully tabulated results of the comprehensive, 60-question survey indicate that "internationalist" sentiment in the United States has made impressive gains over "isolationist" sentiment during the last 10 years.

But the grim fact that only slightly more than half of the adult populace thinks there is a chance of avoiding World War III sticks out in this report with an ominous warning.

Thirty-two per cent of those polled said they thought this war was inevitable, with 15 per cent saying they did not know.

This is almost an exact reversal of the results in a similar poll taken for the Atlantic Council in 1952. With the Korean war still on at that time, 53 per cent of those interviewed thought a third world war was inevitable, with only 35 per cent thinking it might be avoided.

The increase from 35 to 53 per cent in those who think another world conflict can be avoided is still regarded as a kind of "skin-of-our-teeth" escape from disaster. But it can be interpreted to explain many facets of current political thought.

It reflects the opinions of many highly vocal Americans who mistrust the Russians, favor a big buildup of U.S. military forces, think this country must be prepared to fight communism wherever it rears its ugly head, oppose both the nuclear test ban treaty, and any steps toward disarmament.

These are the causes held most dear by many of the conservative minority groups in America. A measure of this minority sentiment is revealed in the Atlantic Council survey finding that only 29 per cent think the United States is doing all it could to prevent World War III. On the other hand, 59 per cent think the United States is doing its best to preserve world peace.

As for policies to prevent war, 59 per cent of those responding in the survey think the United States should not join any more international alliances. And seven per cent think the U.S. should get out of all the alliances it is now in.

But 21 per cent think the United States should continue to work with the United Nations; 35 per cent think the UN should be strengthened, and 11 per cent think steps should be taken to convert it into a world government.

Only 12 per cent of those polled, however, would favor surrender of American sovereignty to achieve this end.

As for the kinds of military preparedness the U.S. should take, three per cent of those polled think there should be a "preventive" war just as soon as American military leaders feel they can win.

Four per cent say quit relying on military strength and make the best deal possible with the communists, even if it means some sacrifice or appeasement.

In between these two extremes, 17 per cent think the United States should rely wholly on its own resources and 68 per cent favor building up friendly country alliances.

This poll is considered important not just as a measure of American opinion on foreign policy, but also as a guide for U.S. political parties and candidates in the 1964 elections.

It would indicate two-to-one support for the Kennedy, Eisenhower or Rockefeller policies on international cooperation.

The policy for a more wholly self-sufficient America, with less dependence on foreign alliances, which is being espoused by many of the supporters of Senator Goldwater would seem to have the backing of that third of the population which the Atlantic Council poll finds believing World War III is inevitable.

There has been made worse by treatment with strong drugs that irritate the tender inflamed skin.

Treatment should start by removing the cause immediately. Well-fitting socks of cotton or wool should be worn and changed at least once a day. Sneakers, if worn in the gym, should never be worn all day. In the house, the child should be encouraged to walk in his stocking feet or barefoot. Slippers or sandals should be worn as much as possible.

In cool-corn starch solution using two tablespoons to a quart of water. If infection is present, your doctor may want to prescribe the local application of an antibiotic mixture.

The fault may lie in the use of socks of nonabsorbent synthetic textiles. Such socks may not allow the perspiration to evaporate quickly enough. The condition can be aggravated by wearing rubbers or rubber-soled sneakers and by excessive walking in rain or snow.

When the skin is waterlogged, friction against the shoes and between the toes may produce blisters or raw areas. Socks or shoes that are too tight or not properly fitted will also aggravate the condition.

Since the raw feet become painful, the child cannot participate in sports. To make matters worse, his parents may start treating him with some leftover salve that had helped the baby's eczema. Any kind of greasy ointment will further prevent evaporation of the normal perspiration.

Or, just as bad, the parents may treat the feet vigorously with some medicine they saw advertised for athlete's foot. Many a simple skin condition in children has been made worse by such treatment.

MARQUIS CHILDS WRITES ON WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25—With the hard sell of the incurable optimism that he is, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller has been putting the case with Republicans in the progressive wing of the party here in Washington for the logic of his candidacy.

To easterners and to moderates from the West, such as Marquis Childs, Sen. Thomas Kuchel of California, he has been making an appeal and at the same time uttering a warning. The Rockefeller pitch goes like this:

"If you allow the nomination to be foreclosed this far in advance for Senator Goldwater your position will become hopeless. The far right will take over and you will be on the outside looking in for the indefinite future."

It is becoming increasingly clear that the favorite-son device will not work in this situation. You have to have an active rallying point, a rallying point that offers a constructive alternative.

Modesty, which is not the governor's long suit, doesn't stop him from making clear that his candidacy is the only rallying point visible in the months ahead. Part of his argument is that the Goldwater boom has already peaked and cannot be sustained. It has been generated largely by the far right. The tactics of the far-right right, Rockefeller finds deeply disturbing. With intimidation and the blackmail of fear these tactics are aimed at frightening off his supporters.

As an example of the dilemma of the moderates he cites Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania. Scranton, who has been mapping a favorite-son strategy, now finds himself being pushed off center by big-money contributors who want to enter a slate of Goldwater delegates in the April primary.

That would mean a bruising fight, and because the old guard can tap well-nigh unlimited resources they could possibly carry the day in a Republican primary in which chiefly the professionals and the regulars would be coming in to vote. This would leave Scranton very much in the cold, the nominal head of a delegation pledged to Goldwater and, therefore, without any bargaining power.

The flaw in the Rockefeller case is evident enough. It is simply that the great majority of men and women who run the party out in the country seem to agree with Goldwater. They may be no more than the hungry hankering for the green pastures of the untrammelled past—a hankering that will be corrected by sober reflection before the convention makes its decision in San Francisco in July. As of today, almost everywhere he goes, the underdog Rockefeller is greeted with the slogan "Goldwater Territory. Keep Out."

Whether it is his natural ebullience—a kind of Teddy Roosevelt zest—or simply a burning ambition fed on the accident of his birth into one of the three or four wealthiest families in the world and the spur that wealth has provided, Rockefeller gives every appearance of enjoying his role. He was immensely proud to bring Mrs. Rockefeller (Happy) to every headline writer in the country to the senate dining room for lunch where, in that conspicuous political showcase, he was confident her natural and easy charm would make an impression.

The role is that of the challenger whom most of the boom-makers rate a long shot at best. As his chief political lieutenant, George L. Hinman, said to him recently, "I never thought I would live to see the day Rockefeller was the underdog."

If that role has its embarrassing moments the governor manages to maintain the same demeanor of outward good nature regardless of the circumstances. Frequently at his informal press conferences as he moves around the country there is a downy smile. He, or she, reads a question, usually about the divorce and remarriage, that is, in effect, a studied insult. Rockefeller gives a soft answer, saying that this is a matter for public opinion and the voters to pass on and he will have nothing more to say about it.

He is convinced that Goldwater cannot carry any of the big-city states and, therefore, that he cannot win. In short he finds the candidacy of a man who expresses the extreme view that Goldwater put in his book "Conservatism of a Conservative" simply incredible. And those views cannot be modified. Rockefeller put it, without casting doubt on the senator's integrity.

The flaw in the Rockefeller case is evident enough. It is simply that the great majority of men and women who run the party out in the country seem to agree with Goldwater. They may be no more than the hungry hankering for the green pastures of the untrammelled past—a hankering that will be corrected by sober reflection before the convention makes its decision in San Francisco in July. As of today, almost everywhere he goes, the underdog Rockefeller is greeted with the slogan "Goldwater Territory. Keep Out."

Only bankers and businessmen wrote checks. Ordinary folks paid their bills in cash or stood in line at the postoffice to buy a money order.

The streets of Manhattan were alive with the tinkling of the bells of the deliverymen who were knocking on the door of the Irish conductor's house to deliver the fare.

Every workman's lunch pail carried a liverwurst sandwich and a slab of homemade apple pie.

A juvenile delinquent was a boy who spent all his coins looking at the girls machines in the penny arcade—and then brought to all the other neighborhood kids how much he knew about women.

If you said a bad word, your mother promptly washed your mouth out with soap instead of worrying about whether she should take you to a psychiatrist.

Saloons had separate entrances for women, who always drank in a back room.

It took more than your first pair of long pants to prove you were a real man. You also had to be able to light a kitchen match on the seat of them.

AT TIMES THERE IS NO RIGHT PLAY
With certain card combinations there is no right play. You just have to guess. For one such combination there are probably five or six where there is a right play—and maybe two or three wrong plays.

South's jump to four hearts was quite sound and if West had opened anything but a trump South should have had very little trouble with his contract, but

South wound up losing three spades and a club, his contract and his partner's esteem.

It seems that South had found a way to go wrong at trick one. He should have won the trick in his own hand and led a spade toward dummy's jack. Once South made that play his defense would have been hopeless. If West rose with the queen there would have been no need to ruff a spade. South would have developed a sure spade trick while if West played low dummy's jack would have been a winner.

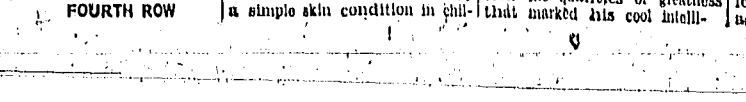

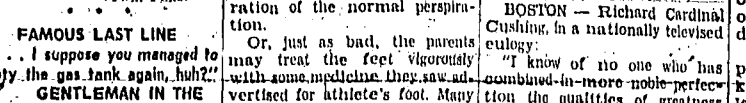

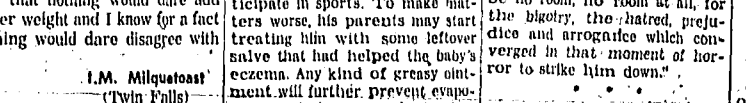

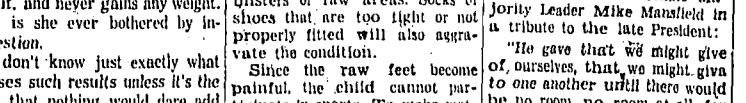

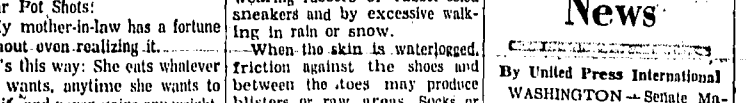

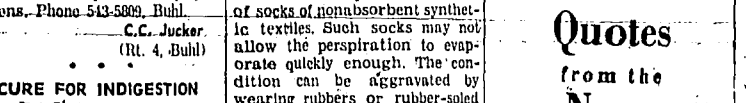

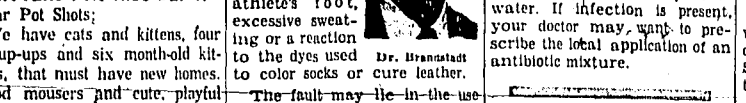

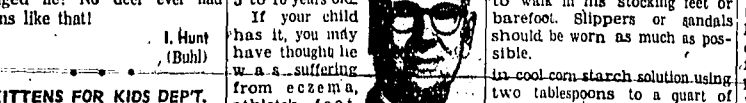

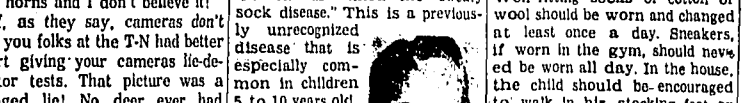

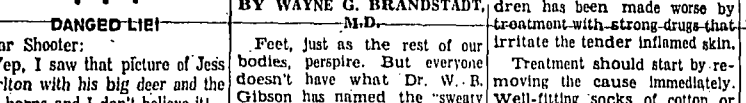

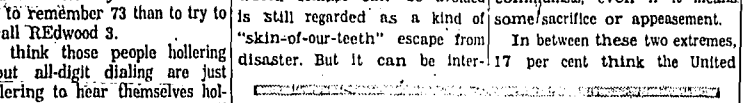

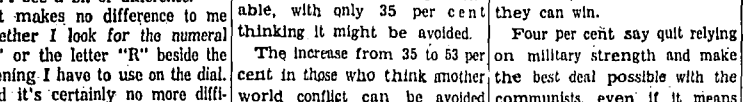

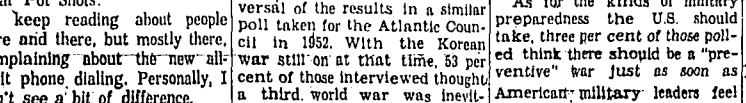

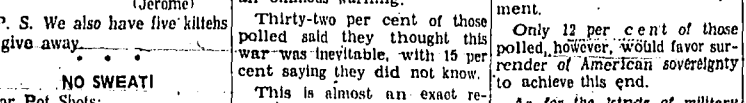

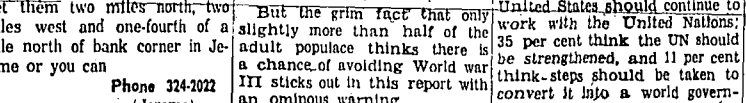

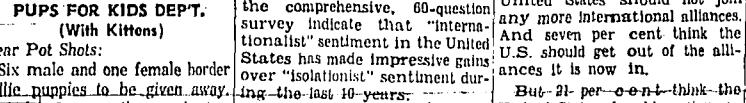

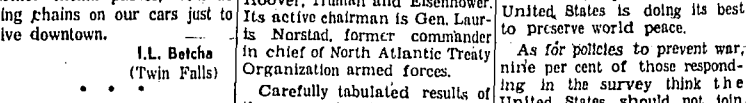

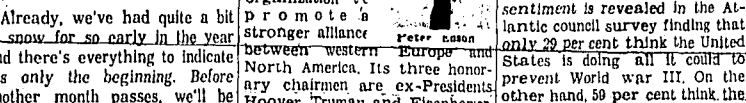

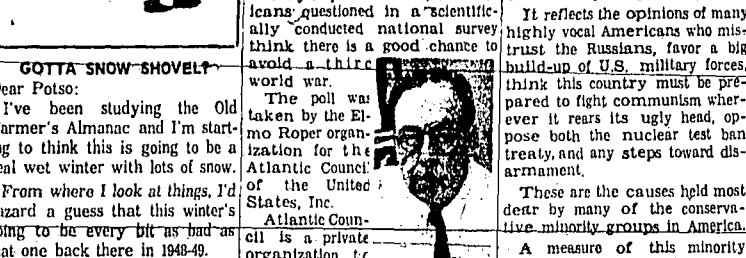

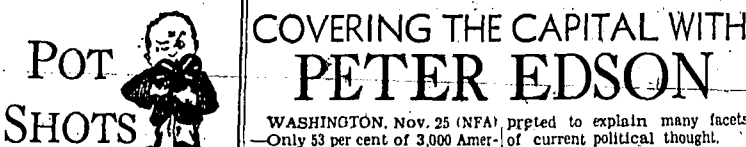

Of course, South pointed out that the lead toward the jack would not have done him any good if East had the queen of spades, but in that case there was no winning play at South's disposal. With the cards placed as they were the lead toward dummy had to win.

CARD SENSE
Q—The bidding has been South West North East 1♠ Pass 1♥ Pass 2♥ Pass 3♥ Pass. What do you do now?

A—Bid three spades. You want to suggest a slam without going past three no-trump. Your partner won't pass.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Your partner continues with a bid of three no-trump. What do you do now?

Oath Confab Was Held After Killing

HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 25 (AP)—The Houston Post reported in a copyrighted story today that two men after the death of President Kennedy, Lyndon B. Johnson conferred with the dead President's brother, Robert F. Kennedy.

The two agreed the paper said that Johnson should immediately take the oath that made him the 36th president of the United States.

The story, written by Executive Editor William Hobby, Jr., said the attorney general and Johnson conferred by radio-telephone while Johnson was aboard the presidential plane.

One "at Love field in Dallas, Robert Kennedy and Johnson agreed that the vice president should take the oath before leaving Dallas, it said.

The oath was then administered by U. S. District Judge Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas.

The Post said that right after talking to the attorney general, President Johnson placed a call to the late President's mother, Mrs. Rose Kennedy, in Hyannis Port, Mass.

Dallas Judge Gets Threats On Her Life

DALLAS, Nov. 25 (AP)—Embattled Dallas police yesterday reported a telephone threat against the life of the federal judge who served in President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Several other prominent Dallas persons were also threatened and a plane was bomb-scare.

The threats apparently came from cranks who delight in harassing police and others in time of crisis or tragedy.

One threat was made against the life of Federal Judge Sarah T. Hughes, who swore in Lyndon Johnson as president shortly after the assassination of President Kennedy.

Also threatened were a newspaper, an airline, a church, and two attorneys who have said they will represent Jack Ruby, the man who shot President Kennedy's accused assassin.

Russian Group Arrives for Chief's Rites

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (AP)—Anastas I. Mikoyan, first deputy premier of the Soviet Union, arrived today from Moscow for President Kennedy's funeral and the Russian people were "grieved" over the tragedy.

In a brief statement after his special Soviet plane set down at nearby Andrews air force base, Mikoyan said he came on orders of Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

Mikoyan, heading a seven-man delegation from Moscow, said the Soviet people "shared with the American people their sorrow" for the assassination of the President.

Chief's Caisson Is Same Used For Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (AP)—The military caisson that carried President Kennedy is the same one that held the body of Franklin D. Roosevelt 18 years ago.

The caisson, one of two maintained by the army's ceremonial first battalion, third infantry regiment at Ft. Myer, Va., also was used in the burial ceremonies of the two unknown soldiers of World War II and Korea, a spokesman for the unit said.

It was built some time during or perhaps before World War I, at a time when caissons were a vital part of cavalry and artillery warfare, the spokesman said.

Originally, caissons were used to bring field guns and ammunition into battle by cavalry and artillery units.

Northside's Scout Event Pulls Crowd

HAGERMAN, Nov. 25 (AP)—About 120 Scout leaders and their wives attended the annual banquet for Northside district Scout leaders at the Methodist church Thursday evening.

The pledge of allegiance was led by Scouts of Hagerman troop 108, Phil Jensen, Frank Misseldine and John Elliott.

The Rev. Austin Rugger gave the invocation. Alfred Sandy, Hagerman, gave the welcome from troops 108 and 35. Hagerman, and Cub Scout pack 35, Hagerman. Sandy is chairman for troop 35.

John Stelle, Jerome, Northside chairman, was master of ceremonies. Introduced were Dr. Vaughn Pond, Twin Falls-Snake River area council president. Stelle spoke on the scouting program. H. L. Prescott, Jerome, Northside district Scout commissioner, thanked leaders for their efforts.

LeRoy Craig, Jerome, immediate past president of the Idaho Junior Chamber of Commerce, spoke on freedom.

Craig stated youths today can get out of life what they ask in proportion to the effort they put forth. He said youths should be taught to respect their country's freedom in respect to themselves and the rest of the world.

Rescheduled

Twin Falls city commissioners will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the city hall for the third reading of proposed ordinance 1237, the dog leash law. The regular Monday night meeting was canceled because of the President's death.

Other items scheduled for action Monday night will be considered, said Commissioner John Angerbaier.

Grandmother of Chief Won't Hear Of Assassination

BOSTON, Nov. 25 (AP)—President Kennedy's 88-year-old grandmother has not been told, and probably never will be, of the President's assassination.

Mrs. John F. Fitzgerald celebrated her 88th birthday Oct. 31 and was cheered by messages of congratulation and a bouquet of flowers from the President and Mrs. Kennedy.

Mrs. Fitzgerald is the widow of former Boston Mayor John (Honey John) Fitzgerald.

"Her mind is keen, very keen and we are afraid she'd understand this awful thing all too well," Miss Katherine Fitzmaurice, Worcester, the woman's constant nurse, said.

She is confined to her room and cannot see the flag flying at half-staff outside the house.

People of World Mourn Death

LONDON, Nov. 25 (AP)—Governments and men and women around the world joined today in mourning services for President Kennedy. Their grief was mixed with shock and astonishment at the assassination of Lee H. Oswald.

They started in the Far East, where Nov. 25 first dawned, and followed around the globe as it turned to the sun.

Only in communist China was there no official observance of the President's funeral. The Chinese Reds reported Kennedy's death Friday, but have made no comment on it. Sunday, however, they assailed President Johnson, saying he supported reactionary policies under Kennedy.

Thousands of American soldiers attended memorial services in South Korea. Most of the 50,000 GI's were taken off duty to observe the day of mourning and attend the services.

The government ordered the Japanese flag flown at half-mast over all government buildings today and Tuesday.

At U. S. bases throughout Japan the big guns roared final salutes over the heads of 50,000 servicemen and their dependents, assembled in a cold rain.

But much of the atmosphere of sorrow began to be tinged with disgust that the assassin had been at least associated with the vision stations played, appropriate music.

Communist propaganda organs reacted immediately to the news of Oswald's killing with charges that he had been slain to cover up the real authors of Kennedy's assassination. The red press and radio attributed both killings to extreme right-wingers.

Westerners in Moscow paid their respects to Kennedy's memory at Protestant services at Spaso house, residence of U. S. Ambassador Foy D. Kohler, and at Catholic rites at the Soviet capital's one small Roman Catholic church, St. Louis le Francien. In Poland, flags were at half-staff on all official buildings, and the government radio and television stations played appropriate music.

Dancing was banned in night clubs and restaurants and theaters canceled their entertainment.

The allied garrisons in East Berlin attended memorial services at the U. S. headquarters. Thousands of Berlin citizens continued to flock to the U. S. headquarters and the city hall to sign condolence books.

Berliners were to gather at

Here are some amazing facts about microwave—the invisible bands of radio waves that carry your Long Distance calls, and frequently lead you to ask what that tower on the hill is for.

When you make a Long Distance call, your voice may ride to its destination on a radio wave. These invisible electrical impulses offer many advantages as carriers of the human voice.

They flash through the air from city to city at incredible speed. They can be aimed to skirt congested areas. And they travel in bunches—hence carry literally thousands of conversations at the same time very economically.

Efficient as they are, however, radio waves lose energy as they travel. So about every 30 miles, they're collected by tall steel towers, revitalized by amplifiers, and sent on.

There's still another reason for the towers—and why they're built on tops of hills. Radio waves don't curve; they go in straight lines. On a clear day, you can probably see from one tower to the next. This line of sight is necessary to give you the clarity of sound you want when you make a Long Distance call.

Microwave and the complex world of radio-telephony is just one of the sciences that underlie your telephone service. With it and others, our aim is to make Long Distance faster, better, even less expensive, and more plentiful.

Tomorrow: How microwave carries your favorite network TV programs.

News Around Idaho

BOISE, Nov. 25 (AP)—Three national Girl Scout leaders were here today to plan for the 1963 Girl Scout roundup near Coeur d'Alene, but only limited planning was possible. State offices were closed for the funeral of President John F. Kennedy and some state officials unavailable. Louis Shaddock, director of the department of commerce and development, said if Gov. Robert E. Smylie returns from Washington in time, a breakfast meeting will be conducted with him Tuesday. The Scout leaders want a contract with Idaho to provide certain services for the roundup, such as health services.

MOUNTAIN HOME, Nov. 25 (AP)—A rustler who butchered a rancher's calf could be in for a painful stomach ache. Sheriff Earl Winter said the calf, owned by Jack Ingle, had been treated with a mixture designed to keep insects away. The meat would have toxic effects if eaten within less than four weeks of the recent treatment, he said.

BOISE, Nov. 25 (AP)—A 43-year-old Eugene, Ore., man, twice convicted of supermarket robberies, waived preliminary hearing Sunday on a charge of holding up a downtown Boise market Friday night. Nelson Woodrow Hurd was held under $5,000 bond in the $350 holdup of a Gateway store. Police say he served time in the Idaho penitentiary and had recently left the Washington State penitentiary after the previous convictions—both involving Safeway stores. The robber stood in line with other customers and told cashier he had a gun under an overcoat. Police picked up Hurd Saturday evening in a Boise tavern.

BOISE, Nov. 25 (AP)—Idaho mathematics teachers ended a three-day centennial conference Sunday with urging from their new president to continue to work for better teaching. John Briggs, Caldwell, president, addressed nearly 300 teachers. Other new officers of the Idaho council of teachers of mathematics are Mario Schutte, Boise, vice president; Betty Batts, Wallace, secretary; Helen Langworthy, Nampa, treasurer; Boyd Henry, Caldwell, editor, and Harold Nelson, Rexburg, state representative. Nominated district representatives were Ruth Modle, Lewiston; Martin Volpert, Boise; Leonard Leth, Buhl; James Olson, Grace, and Calvin Cook, Rigby.

PRESTON, Nov. 25 (AP)—Two young Porcettello hunters who spent 24 hours in the mountains between Preston and Montpelier without food or shelter were found safe Sunday. Blaine Jorgensen, 17, and Tom Smith, 19, said they had killed a deer and were dragging it to their car when snow and darkness convinced them they should abandon it. They couldn't find their way to their car but found a stack of baled hay where they made a shelter for the night. They were picked up by a motorist Sunday near Cleveland, where a highway crosses the Bear river.

GEORGETOWN, Nov. 25 (AP)—The chairman of an Idaho group that has opposed the Bear river reclamation project charged Sunday that it is "a water grab by the state of Utah" in cooperation with the bureau of reclamation. Lloyd B. Dunn of the Bear River Protective committee, said it is no different than the southern California proposal to divert 2.4 million acre feet of water annually from the Snake river in Idaho near Twin Falls. He said his charge was leveled in reply to the assertion by Utah Gov. George D. Clyde that opposition to the project is based "on erroneous information or deliberate misuse of facts." The project would irrigate land in both Idaho and Utah but Dunn's group contends that most of it would go to Utah. A Caribou county group is working on a water project of its own.

Governor Can't Understand Opposition to Water Plan

BOISE, Nov. 25 (AP)—Gov. Robert E. Smylie says he can't conceive of "rational opposition" to his proposal for bond-financed development of Idaho streams unless it comes from those who want exclusive federal development.

The governor, in detailing his proposal to protect Idaho water from outside threats, also hints he might call a special session of the legislature to speed its implementation. Smylie said bond-financing under a state water resources board might make possible development of large as well as smaller projects.

He said it might make possible projects "that have been talked about for years such as willow creek, Ririe, Teton and suitable and adequate facilities at Burns creek."

By that he said he means he believes Burns creek would have to be changed from the present bureau of reclamation proposal because "you can't sell it."

He proposes that power developed at the dams should be sold at the site "to the highest bidder." Smylie said that should "keep any possible private versus public power squabble" from developing.

Power from federal reclamation dams is sold on a preference basis to certain customers, including municipalities, cooperatives and rural electrification associations. It is also sold to private utilities.

Smylie said it is proper that the state should develop for itself projects that are possible. He added that extremely large projects, like Garden Valley, might better be left for federal development.

The legislature would have to approve a constitutional amendment to give the state authority to sell bonds for water projects. With the legislature scheduled to meet next in early 1965, a proposed amendment couldn't be submitted to the people until the 1968 election.

Smylie didn't say anything specifically about a special session, but he said:

"If the California threat continues it might be something that might warrant extraordinary consideration."

He referred to the Los Angeles proposal to divert 2.4 million acre feet per year of Snake river water.

The governor also said the ultimate decision on the bond proposal would rest "with this legislature or the next one." The current legislature wouldn't meet again except if there were a special session.

The governor proposes that the water resources board would conduct hearings with authority to authorize projects "under a broad grant of legislative authority and discretion."

He said he sees no conflict in joint state and federal development.

Smylie said the reaction he has received since he advanced the proposal two weeks ago has all been favorable, some of it enthusiastic. He notes that he first advanced the idea in 1954 and credits the interest at this time to the California threat.

Laboratory Break-in Is Reported

KIMBERLY, Nov. 25—The irrigation laboratory at the Snake river conservation field station near Kimberly, was broken into sometime Saturday night or early Sunday morning, but nothing was taken, according to A. R. Robinson, director of the station.

Robinson said he discovered the break-in about 9:30 a.m. Sunday when he went to the station and found a fork lift truck stuck in the lawn near the laboratory.

He explained entry to the building was gained by breaking a window and then opening the doors. The truck was then moved out of the building and up onto the lawn where it got stuck. Other equipment in the laboratory building was moved, but nothing was taken, Robinson said.

Robinson said whoever broke into the building apparently cut himself when he broke the window because there was blood around the sill and on some equipment. The telephone was apparently used by the person who had entered the building because there was blood on the receiver, Robinson said.

Mrs. Pond Paid Honor at Rites

BUHL, Nov. 25—Funeral services for Mrs. Rosa Amelia Pond were conducted Saturday at the Buhl First United Presbyterian church by the Rev. Dale K. Olson, pastor.

Mrs. William Watt, soloist, was accompanied by Mrs. Stanley Kern, organist. Norris Westby and Dick Atkins were ushers.

Palbearers were Shelby Constant, Walter Senften, Emile Haumont, Dean Haumont, John Barker and Jim Randall. Concluding rites were held in the Buhl city cemetery.

Some Landlords are Yummy!

By EDIE ADAMS

DEAR EDIE: I recently moved into a fully furnished luxury apartment with a built-in bar (completely stocked, Hi-Fi, and all the latest, maddest, most modern conveniences.)

My problem is: the rent is only $75.00 per month — and Jack Lemmon, my landlord, says he will lower the rent if I promise to meet him Under The Yum-Yum Tree.

Is this better than a month's concession?

Oswald Visit To Mexico Is Reported

ARLICO, Tex., Nov. 25 (AP)—Lee Harvey Oswald spent a week in Mexico under mysterious circumstances last Sept. 26, the U.S. customs service said yesterday.

William M. Kline, assistant U.S. customs agent in charge of the agency's investigative service, said Oswald crossed the border Sept. 26, going to Mexico City, and returned Oct. 3.

There are records that establish this, Kline said.

Kline insisted that he did not know the purpose of Oswald's visit and did not know whether it was alone.

Survey on Seat Belts Reported

BOISE, Nov. 23 (Special)—At least 85 of the 152 people who were killed in Idaho crashes between Sept. 30 either were thrown from their cars or slammed against some part of the car interior, reports the traffic safety division of the department of law enforcement.

The seat belt survey indicates that as of Sept. 30 seat belts had a 74.5 per cent use rate, compared with 60 per cent last year, department officials state.

The survey established that in the first nine months of 1963, 85 of the 118 car occupants killed were thrown from their cars.

About 20 per cent of Idaho cars now are equipped with seat belts, the survey further indicates.

ing the American people the full story. Later, Dallas Dist. Atty. Henry Wade listed what he said was a complete summary of the evidence against Oswald.

A wild tumult broke out immediately after the shooting of Oswald in the basement of city hall. But it was nothing compared to the public uproar over the slaying.

Communist propaganda organs abroad promptly depicted Oswald's death as a coverup to mask sinister rightist forces which they blamed for the President's assassination. Moscow bitterly resented the linking of Oswald with communism.

Americans themselves disagreed over the shooting of the cold-eyed Oswald. Some thought he got what he deserved. Others noted that no matter the enormity of the crime charged against him, he still was entitled by law to his day in court.

Amid the furor, Ruby was booked on a murder charge and Dist. Atty. Wade announced he would press for conviction and execution in the electric chair with the same vigor he had proposed to apply toward Oswald.

Oswald was arrested Friday, shortly after Kennedy's assassination and after the slaying of officer Tippit.

He insisted from the outset, "I did not kill President Kennedy. I did not kill anyone."

He stuck to this story during 48 hours of intensive questioning in temporary detention quarters in city hall.

However, Wade said of his case against Oswald: "I have sent him to the electric chair with less evidence. The gun was here, his prints were on the gun, the gun was the gun that killed Kennedy, his palm prints were on the box on which the killer sat, and witnesses put him on the sixth floor at the time of the shooting."

The assassin fled on Kennedy from the sixth floor of the Texas school book depository building, which overlooked the route of the President's motorcade. Oswald, a warehouse employee of the firm.

Finally, polled decided they would get no information from Oswald. They announced that he would be transferred by armored car from city hall to a permanent maximum security cell in the Dallas county jail, about a mile away.

Some 300 newsmen and officials gathered in a basement ramp leading from a city hall elevator to a driveway outside. Other curious spectators stood in bright sunshine outside to await Oswald's emergence.

Oswald, handcuffed, with detectives on either arm, came out of the elevator, and took a few steps in the direction of the armored car parked halfway up the inclined ramp.

At that moment, the stocky, conservatively dressed Ruby lunged forward, stuck his pistol flush against Oswald's side and fired a single shot. The roar of the gun was somewhat muffled by its close proximity to the victim's body.

The bullet tore through Oswald's vital midsection organs, although it missed his heart. He was rushed to Parkland hospital and into an emergency room only a few feet away from the one where President Kennedy died.

Some of the same doctors who worked on the President tried just as desperately to save Oswald's life. Blood was administered. His chest was opened and his heart massaged by hand. But Oswald never regained consciousness and died at 1:07 p.m. The shooting occurred at 11:20 a.m.

Ruby owns a strip tease joint, the Carousel, in downtown Dallas about four blocks from police headquarters, and a dance hall, the Vegas, further out.

His real last name was Rubinstein. Early in life he was nicknamed "Sparky" because of his volatile nature.

Ruby drove up to city hall shortly before the Oswald killing. His background had given him an extensive acquaintance among Dallas policemen and there seemed no apparent reason why his presence amidst officials should be restricted.

Afterwards, Dallas Police Chief Jess Curry explained why Oswald was being transferred in broad daylight.

He told newsmen, "If I hadn't promised you people I would not take Oswald until this morning, we would have taken him during the night. I told you I wouldn't back down on my pledge."

Ruby's single shot ended a strange career for Oswald.

who bore him two children, one four years old and the other 22 months old.

All his life, Oswald was known as a loner. It was alone in a crowd that he fell prone on the basement floor of city hall while pandemonium broke loose above his motionless body.

Hot Line Never Used By Kennedy

MOSCOW, Nov. 25 (AP)—United Press International learned on the best authority today that President Kennedy never used the "hot line" to Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

There had been speculation it might have been used between Moscow and Washington during the worst moments of the autobahn crisis in Germany in October and early November. It was not.

Nor was the emergency communication circuit between the White House and the Kremlin activated when the Russians arrested Prof. Frederick C. Barghoorn on espionage charges. Barghoorn was released after American protests through normal channels and President Kennedy's strong demand at a press conference for the professor's freedom.

The card arrived Saturday, after the President had been assassinated in Dallas, Tex.

Police Car Hit in Mishap

HANSEN, Nov. 25—An Idaho state police car was damaged slightly as a result of a two-car accident at 11:30 p.m. Saturday six and one-half miles east of here on U.S. highway 30.

Twin Falls Deputy Sheriff Paul Corder, investigating officer, said state patrolman James Gerke, 32, Ellettsburg, had just stopped Mrs. Hertha K. Simpson, 40, Heyburn, for failure to dim her lights when the car she was driving rolled back and struck the front end of the state police car.

The front end of the police car was damaged slightly with both headlights smashed.

Gerke cited Mrs. Simpson for failure to dim.

Rail Strike Still Looms for U.S.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (AP)—The railroad arbitration board created by congress to head off a nationwide rail strike hands down its ruling Tuesday amid strong hints of another strike threat in February.

Sources close to the long work rules dispute foresee the distinct possibility of a continued union-management deadlock no matter what the arbitration board rules on the two key issues involving the jobs of some 50,000 firemen and train crewmen.

This could throw the dispute back into the lap of congress Feb. 25, the expiration date of the emergency rail-arbitration law passed last August to halt the threat of a strike then.

Chief Friend Threatened By Caller

ATLANTA, Nov. 25 (AP)—It's just awful and sickening, said an Atlanta widow, Mrs. Kirksey, describing a threatening telephone call she received because she was a friend of late President John F. Kennedy.

Police are guarding her home. Mrs. Kirksey's husband was killed aboard PT109 Aug. 1, 1943, at the same time Kennedy was injured.

As captain of the craft, was Kennedy's duty to take Mrs. Kirksey of her husband's death. He kept in touch with her and contributed to her education.

She said that the telephone rang Saturday night and a voice asked:

"Are you the Kirksey connected with the Kennedys?"

She said she was and the man as saying:

"So you're a nigger-lover. You'd better stay behind closed doors. We'll deal with you later."

Guest Speakers Are Reported By Camas Club

FAIRFIELD, Nov. 25 — State Police Patrolman Walter Kirtley and Richard Lee were speakers at the meeting of the Camas club held in the grade school annex.

Kirtley showed a film on traffic safety and talked to the group about what the department is doing to promote safety on the roads. He also answered questions from the audience.

Lee gave a report of the summer music camp at Moscow. He was sponsored by the club and sent to music camp this summer. He said it was a worthwhile project and urged the club to continue sending a student each year.

The club voted to have a gift exchange at the next meeting and also have each member bring a gift to be sent to the Idaho Youth Ranch. A table will be set up in a local store where interested persons may leave gifts for the boys at the youth ranch. The club plans to make a cash donation to the ranch in the spring.

The club voted to award a total of $10 in prize money for the best essays on "Hiring the handicapped." The essays are to be written by high school students.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses at tables decorated with fall fruits and vegetables in cornucopias. Those serving included Mrs. Raymond Brooks, Mrs. Cecil Howard, Mrs. Joseph Cook and Mrs. Charles Scoggin.

CARDS SCRAMBLE EASTERN DIVISION RACE

St. Louis Thumps Giants 24-17 to Climb Into Tie With Cleveland, New York

NEW YORK, Nov. 25 (AP)—St. Louis threw the Eastern conference race of the National Football league into a triple tie Sunday by whipping the New York Giants 24-17. The Cards, Giants and Cleveland are tied for first place with three games to play. Joe Robb, veteran defensive end of the Cards, threw Y. A. Tittle for a 13-yard loss when he tried to pass on fourth down from the Cards' 16 with 1:36 to play.

Stolen Passes Help Browns Drop Dallas

CLEVELAND, Nov. 25 (AP)—Cleveland turned two fourth-period pass interceptions into touchdowns Sunday to defeat the Dallas Cowboys 27-17 and moved into a tie with New York and St. Louis for the National Football league's Eastern conference lead. The Browns were hanging onto a slim 13-10 edge going into the fourth quarter when Ross Fichtner intercepted Don Meredith's pass and raced 36 yards into the end zone for what proved to be the clinching counter.

Two Gridders Suspended For Fighting

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 25 (AP)—Defensive halfback Ben Scotti and tackle John Mellekas of the Philadelphia Eagles have been suspended without pay for a fist fight after a team meeting Saturday night.

Head Coach Nick Skorich announced before Sunday's game with the Washington Redskins that:

"Pending further investigation I have suspended indefinitely and without pay Ben Scotti and John Mellekas for an altercation Saturday night following a team meeting at the Sheraton Motor Inn."

Scotti and Mellekas both are in Grady hospital here. Scotti, who came here last season from the Washington club, reportedly has a broken hand. Mellekas is said to have suffered severe face cuts.

Reportedly the fight developed from a political argument, believed to have been connected with the slaying of President Kennedy.

There had been a difference of opinion as to whether Sunday's game should have been played due to the death of the President.

Royals Wallop St. Louis Hawks

CINCINNATI, Nov. 25 (AP)—Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson and Jerry Lucas led the Royals in a 122-113 National Basketball association victory over the St. Louis Hawks Sunday night.

The Royals took the lead at 8-6 midway in the first period and were never headed. They had three nine-point leads in that period.

Robertson connected for five goals in five shots in the first period.

In the second period, Lucas went on a rampage and in two minutes, 33 seconds scored nine points. The half ended 58-48.

WINS DECISION

TOKYO, Nov. 25 (AP)—Teruo Kosaka, Japanese lightweight champion, scored a unanimous 10-round decision Sunday over Pedro Adegue of the Philippines.

Robb and Sam Silas had thrown Tittle for a loss on the previous play as the Cards blunted the last Giant threat.

Charley Johnson threw two touchdown passes for the Cardinals, who had upset Cleveland last week.

The Cards play the Browns again next week in St. Louis.

Tittle connected for two touchdown passes to Aaron Thomas and Joe Walton, but the hard rush of the Cardinals' defensive line and their red dogging linebackers kept the old boy on his back much of the afternoon.

Y. A. had only four passes intercepted all season going into this game, but Larry Wilson, the Cards' safety man, picked off two Sunday.

It was tied at 17-17 early in the final period, after Tittle's four-yard scoring pass to Walton when Eddie Dove fumbled a punt and Garland Boyette recovered for St. Louis on the Giants' 20.

Johnson took the Cards into the end zone in five plays, winning the game on a three-yard pass to Bobby Joe Conrad.

Dove almost made up for that miscue in the final minutes when he took Jerry Stovall's punt on the Card 40 and ran it back to the St. Louis seven.

The Giants lost two on a completed pass to Phil King. Silas threw Tittle on the 16. After a Tittle pass was incomplete, Robb broke through and smothered Y. A. on the Cardinal 29 where St. Louis took over the ball.

Jim Bakken's 16-yard field goal put the charged-up Cards over front in the first period but the Giants came back to take the lead in the second on a 35-yard touchdown pass by Tittle to Thomas and a 15-yard field goal by Don Chandler.

Johnson's 11-yard scoring pass to Sonny Randle early in the third period tied it at 10-10. Phil Triplett, brother of former Giant fullback Mel Triplett, ran 14 yards off his right guard after Wilson intercepted Tittle's pass and brought it back 11 yards to the Giant 19.

Meredith, who had been passing well as the Cowboys won two of their last three, had little luck. The Dallas signal-caller connected on 13 of 30 for only 93 yards. He had four interceptions.

Brown's 51 yards on the ground moved his league-leading total to 1,488 and left him just 29 yards short of his own National league record with three games to go.

With the Dallas defender keying on Jimmy Brown, the big Cleveland fullback was held to 51 yards in 17 attempts, but his running mate, Ernie Green broke away for 87 yards in seven tries. Don Perkins paced Dallas with 77 yards in 17 attempts.

With the Dallas defender keying on Jimmy Brown, the big Cleveland fullback was held to 51 yards in 17 attempts, but his running mate, Ernie Green broke away for 87 yards in seven tries. Don Perkins paced Dallas with 77 yards in 17 attempts.

Meredith, who had been passing well as the Cowboys won two of their last three, had little luck. The Dallas signal-caller connected on 13 of 30 for only 93 yards. He had four interceptions.

Brown's 51 yards on the ground moved his league-leading total to 1,488 and left him just 29 yards short of his own National league record with three games to go.

Bruins' Reed Is Top Average Ball Carrier for Grid League

John Reed, shifted from a defensive linebacker to tailback for his senior season, proved the most effective (by average) ball carrier in the Southern Idaho conference last season, official statistics revealed today.

Reed, who carried the ball less than 20 times in his underclassmen days, average 9.7 yards in total offense and 7.4 yards rushing during the seven-game slate. Three bulky seniors completed eight of 12 pass attempts for 176 yards and one touchdown and added 500 more yards on the ground. His yard-total placed him fourth both in total offense and rushing, however.

Steve Garman, Caldwell; Paul Gentle, Boise, and Denny Nielsen, Borah, ran off with the major offensive championships.

Garman wound up the total offense leader with 1,206 yards and traded the passing division leads with Gentle, who also ran second in total offense. Nielsen, who seized the lead the first game and led throughout the season, took the rushing championship with 708 yards in 94 carries. Ken Ballenger, Idaho Falls fullback, was second with 598 yards but had the most carries with 105.

In the passing department, Garman led in completions and yardage, hitting on 60 aerials for 1,210 yards. His percentage of completions was 58, a two-point edge over Gentle. Gentle had the most passes attempted with 125—three more than Garman—and trailed by one in completions with 58. He had a big edge in touchdown passes with 19 against 11 for Garman. However, Garman will be back next year.

Receiving was a run-away victory for Caldwell's Roger Cantlon who grabbed off 40 for 729 yards and seven touchdowns. He was all alone in these departments, although Rich Toney, Boise, turned five of his 19 receptions into touchdowns.

Steve Farden, Caldwell, took the punting championship with a 40.9 average with Borah's Ron Imel next with 39.4. Lloyd Egan, Highland, returned eight kickoffs for 273 yards to lead that department while Rick Malley, Boise, picked up 183 yards on 11 punt returns, but his 16.7 average was behind the 28.5 of Ray Groth, Idaho Falls, who returned four for 114 yards.

Team statistics bear out the final conference standings. Borah was tops in total offense with 2,533 yards; runner-up Boise next with 2,440 yards, and third place Boise led by holding all opposition to 1,377 yards followed by

Twin Falls at 1,578 and Borah at 1,708.

The longest scoring plays of the season included: rushing, Curtis Eaton, Twin Falls vs. Nampa, for 84 yards; passing, Ron Imel to Denny Nielsen, Borah vs. Pocatello, for 87 yards; longest kickoff return, King, Nampa vs. Twin Falls, 92 yards, and punt return, Ray Groth, Idaho Falls, for 79 yards.

NFL Plays to Big, Quiet Crowds

By The Associated Press
Despite vigorous verbal protests from some quarters, the National Football league started its seven-game program Sunday before sombre crowds and filled seats.

The NFL proceeded with its scheduled program, only two days after the assassination of President Kennedy, while the American Football league postponed its four-game program.

NFL club spokesmen admitted receiving phone calls protesting the decision to go ahead with Sunday's schedule. But these same spokesmen said that the reserved seats in their parks were filled with few exceptions.

At the same time, NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle reaffirmed his decision to keep the NFL teams in action. At Yankee Stadium, where St. Louis defeated New York 24-17 before a crowd of 62,992, Rozelle said:

"Everyone has a different way of paying respects. I went to church today and I imagine many of the people here at the game did too. I cannot feel that I have made a mistake."

"If I admitted that, I would be saying that playing the game was disrespectful. I do not feel it was so."

Nixon May Get Crack at Presidency

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (AP)—The possibility that Republicans may give former Vice President Richard M. Nixon a second crack at the presidency appeared to be growing today.

The assassination of John F. Kennedy and the ascension of Lyndon B. Johnson to the office has forced a radical reassessment by GOP strategists of the 1964 campaign.

Where once they conceded privately they had only an uphill chance of defeating Kennedy's bid for a second term, they now feel the odds are nearly even they may be able to deny Johnson a first elective term.

For a race with Kennedy, many would bet on the theory that a conservative like Barry Goldwater, R., Ariz., could defeat a Democratic liberal.

Now the Republican candidate is likely to face a Democrat identified in the public mind as a Southern conservative. For this is how Johnson is viewed by many, despite the support he has given as vice president to the Kennedy legislative program and his efforts to shed the tag of sectionalism.

Nevertheless, the Republicans perceive a broad avenue leading toward the nomination of a man who can try to "out-Johnson" Johnson in being for positive action on civil rights and for prudent, social welfare programs without having to bear the party umbrage of being a "me-too" candidate.

The Republican who ordinarily would fit this description is Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York. But to get his party's nomination, Rockefeller will have to overcome the political liability of divorcing his wife of 35 years and marrying a divorced mother of four children.

If Rockefeller cannot surmount this political barrier—and many liberal Republicans are indicating by searching frantically elsewhere for a champion that they think he cannot—Nixon may prove to be their only refuge.

Gooding Farm Bureau Listens To T. F. Speaker

WENDELL, Nov. 25 — Orvel Thompson, Twin Falls, field representative for the Idaho Farm Bureau, was speaker for the membership committee meeting of the Gooding County Farm Bureau Friday at the Stop cafe.

Thompson was introduced by John Sanborn, Hagerman, county Farm Bureau president. He spoke of the membership drive and also explained the new Farm Bureau name signs.

The annual banquet of the Farm Bureau will be held at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 4 at the civic club rooms with the Woman's Missionary league of the Christ Lutheran church catering.

Mrs. Oscar Thiele, woman's chairman of the Farm Bureau, and Mrs. Gene Callen will be in charge of arrangements.

William Johnson Paid Last Honor

JEROME, Nov. 25 — Funeral services for William E. Johnson were held Friday at the Hove chapel with Ivan Hepworth, first counselor of the Jerome LDS church, presiding.

Maurice Reid gave the invocation. Speakers were Harvey Davis and Bishop Herick M. Drake. LaVern Higbee read the obituary and Raymond L. Jones gave the benediction. Earl Thomson dedicated the grave.

Music included a trio, Twila Bingham, Iona Tranter and Juanita Rigby, and a duet was sung by Raymond Jones and Marjorie Jones. Thora Gough was pianist.

Palbearers were William A. Kersey, Earl Jackson, Wade Jones, Wayne Thompson, Glen Jackson and Jake Jones. Concluding services were held at the Jerome cemetery.

BPA Man Talks For Fairfield Co-Op Meeting

FAIRFIELD, Nov. 25 — Paris Gliky, Idaho Falls, was special speaker Friday evening at the annual meeting of the Prairie Power Cooperative in the Legion hall.

Gliky is a representative of the Bonneville power administration and was accompanied by Ray Foleen who also spoke. Camas County Attorney Robert Newhouse spoke on the legal aspects of the group's constitution.

The program included a film on water conservation. Directors were reelected with Boyd Harrison, president, and William E. Sweet, Doran Clier, Thomas E. Jones and Charles Packham, directors.

Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Booser and Mrs. Boyd Harrison. Booser is local manager of the cooperative.

The Daily Investor

By WILLIAM A. DOYLE

mutual fund management companies. Mutual funds have grown tremendously in size in recent years and have done very well during the last year or so. But the market prices of most mutual fund management companies have not kept pace with this rise. Why?

A. Because most of them have not done as well as the mutual funds. The word most is stressed, because some of the companies have done very well. Remember, now, that mutual funds and mutual fund management companies are two different things.

A mutual fund management company is pretty much what the term implies — a company that manages one or more mutual funds.

Some companies of that type provide investment advice to mutual funds and collect investment advisory fees from the funds. Others act as underwriters and collect commissions on the sale of mutual fund shares.

Some management companies do both. Arrangements vary a great deal from one outfit to another. Anyone interested in owning stock of a management company should check to make sure he understands the sources of income to the individual company.

It might be natural to expect that, with mutual funds becoming larger, the gross income and profits of management companies would also increase. But things have not always worked out that way.

A number of mutual funds have scaled down the investment advisory fees they pay to management companies. Sales of mutual fund shares are lower than they were about two years ago.

As a result, the gross income and net profit of many mutual fund management companies have not risen as fast as some people thought they would.

It was only a couple of years ago that some characters in the financial district were touting stocks of mutual fund management companies as "the growth stocks of the century." Some have done well; some not so well. Some have been flops.

Q: I own a substantial amount of good stocks, which I have left with a brokerage firm. As you recently pointed out, this is a very convenient way to do things. I have confidence in the brokerage firm, because it is a member of the New York stock exchange.

But, suppose the brokerage firm failed and went into bankruptcy or someone absconded with my stock. Would I be protected?

A. Yes, although letters to this corner indicate that many people are concerned about this, it's really nothing to worry about, assuming that you are dealing with a reputable brokerage firm.

As far as a brokerage firm going into bankruptcy is concerned, you have protection in the "capital requirements" of the securities and exchange commission and the stock exchange. Actually, the New York stock exchange requirements, on that score, are tighter than those of the SEC.

And, if you are dealing with a member firm of the New York stock exchange, you are protected against "someone absconding with" your stock, or in the case of any other fraud, you are protected by a "broker's fidelity bond." The exchange requires all member brokerage firms to post such bonds.

Many brokerage firms which are not members of the NYSE also have such bonding arrangements. And it's not the worst idea in the world for a customer to check such things, before opening an account.

Accused Assassin's Rifle Obtained From Chicago Firm

CHICAGO, Nov. 25 (AP)—The president of a Chicago sporting goods firm said yesterday his records show that the rifle used to assassinate President Kennedy "probably" was purchased through the mail from his company.

Milton Klein, 53, of Klein Sporting Goods company, said the federal bureau of investigation had granted him permission to reveal circumstances surrounding purchase of the weapon.

The FBI said the 63-millimeter military rifle used to slay the President was purchased by "A Hydel" for $12.78 and delivered to a Dallas, Tex., postoffice box.

Dallas police said accused assassin Lee Harvey Oswald wrote the order for the gun under an assumed name.

Klein refused to say flatly that the rifle had been purchased from his firm but said "indications from everywhere are that it probably was."

"The exact rifle, as well as similar types, can be purchased in thousands of stores and from hundreds of mail order companies all over the United States," he said.

Jerome Driver Gets Citation

James A. Dirk, 19, Jerome, was cited for improper lane changing after a two-car accident at 9:15 p.m. Sunday in the 100 block of Addison avenue west.

Police said Dirk was driving a 1953 Ford west on Addison avenue west and changed from one lane to another. Not seeing a 1961 Chevrolet driven by James E. Kinsey, 18, Twin Falls, he struck the Chevrolet in the left front fender. The right side of the Ford was damaged slightly.

There were no injuries.

Cuban Speaks on Death

HAVANA, Nov. 25 (AP)—Ernesto (Che) Guevara, minister of industry, said last night that "dark and sinister forces" were behind the assassinations of President Kennedy and his accused killer, Lee H. Oswald.

"Everything indicates that in the next few months and years world peace will be threatened by the most unscrupulous, ferocious and warlike monopolistic oligarchy — and with the most murderous potential — that the history of humanity has ever known," Guevara told electrical workers at an indoctrination forum.

He said Oswald's slaying yesterday was like something out of a Hollywood gangster movie. Guevara's remarks followed Premier Castro's assertion that American right-wing groups were behind Kennedy's assassination. Castro said in a Saturday night television speech that Cuba is in greater danger of invasion now, because President Johnson lacks sufficient governmental control to resist right-wing pressure groups.

"The American people and the peoples of the world should demand to know what is behind Kennedy's assassination," Castro said.

He denied any Cuban involvement in the killing and suggested that Oswald could be an innocent scapegoat, a mentally unbalanced person or "an instrument of reactionaries, an agent of a macabre plan to carry forward a policy of war and aggression, to place the government of the United States at the mercy of the most aggressive circles of monopolies, militarism and the worst elements in the United States."

He cited the recent violent demonstration against Adlai Stevenson, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, in Dallas. Castro called Kennedy's slaying bad news for Cuba but said press reports in the United States were identifying Oswald as a "Castro communist" and trying to insinuate that Cuba and the Soviet Union were responsible for the President's death.

"Only the ultrareactionaries can be benefitted by this incident," Castro said. "The assassination of Kennedy tends to change United States policy for the worse and aggravate the evils of American policy."

"The death of a man, even though that man may be an enemy, gives us no cause to rejoice," he said. "We hate the imperialist system but that does not mean that we hate men."

YOUR BIRTHDAY and HOROSCOPE

MONDAY Nov. 25—Born today, you have an essentially spiritual nature which, coupled with your inborn sympathy and calm disposition, makes you a particularly fine adviser to other people. Instinctively others know that you must be prepared to have them flock to your side for moral support, guidance, and a general uplifting influence. It is hardly likely that you would ever be tempted to take advantage of this situation, and that is something others also know instinctively — and appreciate.

You are emotionally subtle — so much so that it distresses you to see others who are not. Yet you would never strive to change another's ways, even say these things, without his consent or without his full cooperation. In short, you wish to aid — you will not force your way anywhere. Ironically, this is the biggest secret of your success.

If you would try to be a helpmate in any marriage, a foregone conclusion. Only one who likes you the way you are, if you don't — since you cannot change and since you will not force another to change — the results could be far from happy.

Among those born on this date are Pope John XXIII; Joe DiMaggio, famed baseball player; Sally Grant, actress; Joseph Wood Krutch, critic, author.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—Bide your time! A day when haste will make more waste than you can afford. Gather your friends together for moral support.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23-Jan. 20)—A more realistic view of present difficulties should see you coming up with a solution sooner than you expect.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—Take advantage of what may be your best of many days. Attend to matters that have a particular bearing on business assets.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20)—Pay special attention to your Tense Nerves Block Bowels hunches, particularly as they relate to personal relationships.

ARIES (March 21-April 20)—Speculation looks good — but avoid judging the book by its cover. Differentiate between what you want and what you can get!

TAURUS (April 21-May 21)—Use this day for tying up loose ends. Consider a change!

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—Your prospects are on the upswing, but so is your emotional response, so take care in the making of decisions. Think!

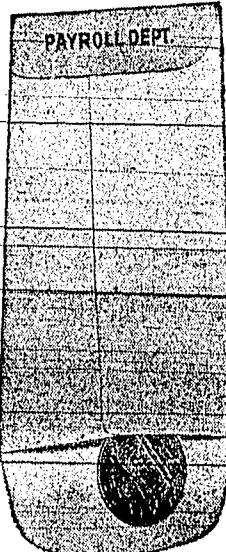

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—General outlook brighter than anticipated. Take advantage of good fortune.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—Consider the ultimate consequences of all activities proposed today. Think before accepting.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—A raft of good days lie ahead, so use this one for accomplishing the extras that will secure for you the time you need.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—Opportunity at a distance. Consider the advantages of a journey for the purpose of investigating.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 23)—Keep to that schedule! An accumulation of initial results should not misguide you into ceasing present efforts.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

New York, N.Y. (Small) — A new scientific discovery made by a team of researchers at the University of California, Los Angeles, has led to a new way of treating hemorrhoids without surgery.

The researchers, led by Dr. J. B. Long, have developed a new technique for shrinking hemorrhoids using a chemical solution. The solution is applied to the hemorrhoid, which then shrinks and the pain and itching are relieved.

The new technique is a significant advance over traditional methods, which often require surgery. It is a non-invasive procedure that can be done in a doctor's office.

President Has Reputation For Getting Things Done

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (AP)—Lyndon B. Johnson is a six-foot, three-inch Texan with a reputation as a man who gets things done.

He made his mark as the Democratic leader of the senate with a dazzling performance as a behind-the-scenes operator who steered a middle course politically.

The 55-year-old President is a hard driver—of himself and of others. But when he is in a relaxing mood, he can charm the birds out of the trees.

During the years 1955 to 1961 when he was the senate's majority leader and Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower was president, Johnson counseled his fellow Democrats against opposition for opposition's sake.

He urged a course of responsibility as best for his party and the country and preached the doctrine that reasonable men of good will can resolve their differences.

"Let us reason together," was one of his favorite admonitions to his colleagues. Johnson ran virtually a one-man show, serving as the Democratic floor leader, chairman of the Democratic conference, chairman of the party steering committee and chairman of the policy committee. He was always a man on the move, nervous, fidgety and impatient. Whether in his office, his car or his home, he is apt to be on the telephone—talking, persuading, arranging.

After incurring a severe heart attack on July 2, 1955, Johnson quit smoking. Until then he had been a chain smoker, burning up three packs of cigarettes a day.

He did not noticeably slow his pace despite his brush with death. Some senators found his way of running the senate hard to take. Mostly the criticism came from liberal Democrats resentful of Johnson's middle-of-the-road course, but there was some grumbling from others that he was iron-handed.

Johnson is a man who likes to be liked and who is sensitive to criticism. He also has a streak of vanity, as shown when he tells photographers to take pictures only from his left side.

Johnson sometimes loses his temper, but he is no pop-off. Most of his statements are carefully prepared. He is no great shakes as an orator, and many of his speeches are larded with homilies.

Civic Symphony's Concert Tuesday Will Feature Playing of Cornetist

William Billingsley of the music faculty at the University of Idaho, Moscow, will be the guest artist for the Twin Falls Civic Symphony orchestra concert at 8:15 p.m. Tuesday, at the O'Leary Junior high school auditorium. He will play "Concerto for Trumpet and Orchestra" by Franz Joseph Haydn.

Billingsley was born in Glasgow, Mont., in 1922, and began playing trumpet at the age of 10. In 1940, he moved to Buffalo, N. Y., where he completed the senior year of high school and studied harmony, trumpet, and orchestration privately.

In 1942, he joined the navy, and attended the navy school of music for 11 months, studying trumpet with navy band cornetist Paul Attitude. The next two and a half years were spent in the South Pacific.

In 1946, Billingsley returned to the United States and was stationed at Brooklyn navy yard as trumpet player and arranger. During the years 1947-48, he studied trumpet in New York with John Egan, and arranging with network staff arrangers.

From 1949-1953, he attended Drake university, Des Moines, Ia., receiving a bachelor's degree in trumpet and a master's degree in composition. During this time he played trumpet and arranged professionally in radio, theater, and dance band, and played first trumpet in the Des Moines Symphony for three years.

In 1954, he began teaching at the University of Idaho—brass instruments, counterpoint, and composition. He has appeared as soloist with the University Symphony orchestra, on faculty recitals and during the 1961-62 season played first trumpet with the Spokane symphony.

Numbers by the orchestra include "Song of Jupiter" by George Frederic Handel; "Unfinished Symphony" No. 8, B. Minor, by Franz Schubert; "The Sleeping Princess"—Valse from "The Ballet" by P. Tchaikovsky; "The Great Gate of Kiev" from the Suite "Pictures at an Exhibition" (No. 10) by M. Mussorgsky; "Gardens of Granada" by P. M. Tormis; "English Folk Songs"—Suite—March, Intermezzo, March, by R. Vaughan Williams; and "The January February March" by Don Gillis.

Tickets are now available at Willie Music center, Warner Music company, Claude Brown Music and Furniture, and The Music box, and may be obtained at the door the night of the concert.

Gov. Connally Learns of Oswald Death

DALLAS, Nov. 25 (UPI)—In a room at Parkland Memorial hospital, where he had just taken his first steps toward recovery from an assassin's bullet wound, Gov. John Connally learned yesterday that Lee Harvey Oswald had been brought, dying, to the same hospital.

Told of the shooting, Connally could only shake his head. His assistant was taken to "trauma room No. 2" where surgeons strove Friday to save the governor from severe wounds dealt him by President Kennedy's slayer.

The 46-year-old Texas chief executive, who resigned in 1961 as Kennedy's secretary of the navy to run successfully for governor, was eating hearty meals of chicken and pie.

He shaved himself with an electric razor, left-handed. His right wrist was shattered by the sniper's bullet.

The Oswald shooting occurred at the city jail just as Connally's attractive wife, Nellie, had appeared at a brief news conference to say that her husband's condition was steadily improving.

Mrs. Connally said the governor was out of danger.

Connally sent his son, Johnny, 17, to Washington today as his personal representative at the state funeral for Kennedy.

Yesterday the governor, through his wife, expressed his deep concern and deep sympathy to Mrs. Kennedy and all members of the Kennedy family over the assassination.

The governor will be hospitalized for about two weeks.

Police Report 2 Accidents Here

Two accidents were investigated by the Twin Falls police department Saturday afternoon, with one driver being cited for failure to yield the right of way.

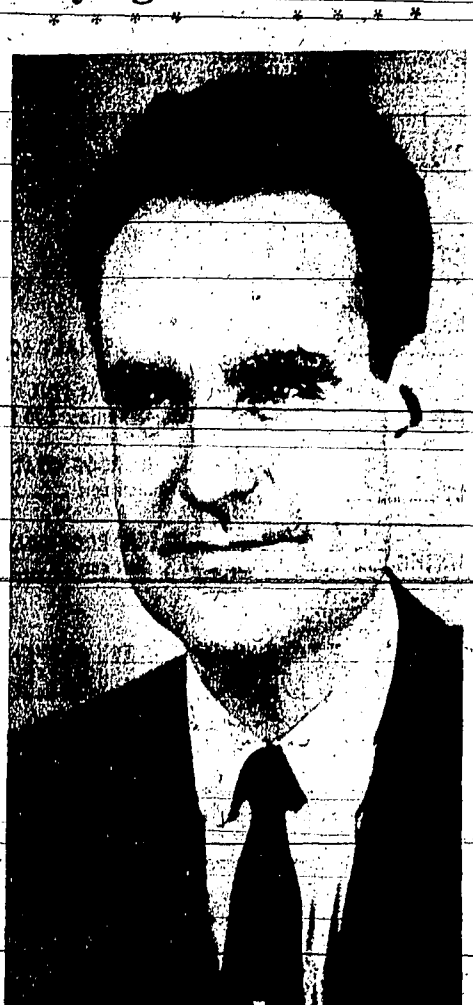

Mrs. Beva B. Salladay, 75, Twin Falls, was cited for failure to yield the right of way after a car-truck accident at 4:54 p.m. Saturday at Second avenue and Second street north.

Police said Mrs. Salladay was driving a 1961 Corvair east on Second avenue and struck a 1963 GMC pickup truck driven by Joseph J. Williams, 49, Twin Falls, which was going south on Second street.

At 6:10 p.m. Saturday, no citations were issued when a 1956 Oldsmobile driven by Orin Gordon, 29, Twin Falls, collided with a 1959 Ford pickup truck driven by John Murray, 34, Pocatello, at Main avenue and Shoshone street, due to wet weather and hard-to-see the street markings.

Both vehicles were traveling west on Main avenue and the pickup truck started to turn left onto Shoshone street and collided with the Oldsmobile, which was in the left lane.

Yellowstone Notes Hike In Camping

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Wyo. (UPI)—Yellowstone National Park Supt. Lemuel A. Garrison credits the continued upsurge in camping with giving the park a record number of "visitor days" this season.

Although the park recorded a 3.5 per cent drop in the actual number of visitors this summer, its "visitor day" count through August was up 40,000 from last year and totaled 3,366,000.

Campers were the main reason for the increase in visitor days as "camper days" topped the 1962 record by 80,000. Garrison said on a typical July night, more than 12,000 persons camped in the park. Campers spent on average of more than five days in the park, and the average camping party consisted of 4.15 persons.

Garrison said a visitor day was more reflective of park use than actual travel figures—or the actual number of visitors—because the person who stays longer affects the park workload and spends more money in the park and surrounding communities.

Thus, he said, the increased revenue reported by park concessionaires is due to the increase in visitor days rather than to actual numbers going through the entrance stations.

The four per cent increase in visitor days was almost identical with the revenue increase reported by the concessionaires, Garrison said.

Again this year, Californians led Yellowstone campers, with 13 per cent of the total. Utah accounted for 7.4 per cent of the campers, Washington 7.3 per cent, followed by Michigan, Colorado, Minnesota, Texas, Ohio and Oregon among the first 10.

Despite all the new-fangled camping shelters, all large portion of Yellowstone's campers apparently prefer to tough it. Garrison's figures showed 38.6 per cent of the campers used tents, 24 per cent house trailers, 12.9 per cent trailers, 11 per cent pickup truck campers and eight per cent special types such as remodeled station wagons and specially designed camping vehicles.

Garrison said campers have a particularly heavy impact on the economy of a recreation area since they stay longer and buy wider variety of products ranging from recreational equipment to daily family needs.

Also, park statistics show camper families are larger, averaging 4.15 persons against 3.6 for all park visitors.

Camper days in Yellowstone have nearly doubled in three years, from 450,000 in 1960 to 814,000 in 1963, Garrison said.

Pregnant Women Consume Army Doctors' Time

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—It isn't sick call that takes up most of army doctors' time. It is pregnant women.

Leut. Col. William A. Boyson, chief of obstetrics-gynecology at Letterman general hospital told a military medical conference here that in terms of numbers of patients, obstetricians have a bigger practice than anyone else in the service.

COLLEGE COLOR
ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UPI)—"Dandelion yellow" is the official color of the University of Rochester. The shade was chosen back in the 1890's and was inspired by the yellow band of a then popular cigar.

Dawn Crowd

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (UPI)—Long before dawn today, the first sprinkling of the crowd began to gather along the streets for the funeral of President John F. Kennedy.

Tribute to Slain Leader

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 25 (UPI)—The United Nations general assembly will meet Tuesday morning to pay formal tribute to the late President.

Under arrangements announced today at U.N. headquarters, the meetings of all the other bodies of the world organization will be suspended until Tuesday afternoon. The date of an important security council session on South Africa's policies of apartheid, scheduled originally for Monday, was uncertain.

Secretary General Thant, who yesterday led a host of saddened U.N. diplomats in sending messages of condolences to the bereaved first family, will head a group of top-level United Nations dignitaries at Monday's funeral services in Washington.

Accompanying him will be Carlos Sosa Rodriguez of Venezuela, this year's president of the general assembly; British ambassador Sir Patrick Dean, who is president of the security council for November; and all American U.N. undersecretaries serving under Thant.

They are Dr. Edgar S. Snodgrass, Paul F. Hoffman, head of the U.N. special fund; Maurice Paley, head of UNICEF; David B. Vaughan, director of general services; Dr. Frank Graham, special U.N. representative for India and Pakistan; and John H. Davis, retiring commissioner general of the U.N. relief and works agency for Palestine refugees (UNRWA).

The blue and white United Nations flag fluttered at half-staff today and the U.N. announced it would remain so for the next three days. The national flags of the 111 U.N. members will not be displayed during that period.

4-H Members To Attend Meet

Five Magic Valley 4-H members will be leaving Thursday to attend the National 4-H congress to be held in Chicago Dec. 1-3. There will be 4-H members from throughout the nation.

The five delegates are Virginia Ross, Lincoln county; Edgar Simmons, Jerome; Jerry Jolley, and Gary Eichelberg, both Gooding; and Cynthia Loughmiller, Twin Falls.

with Flameless

ELECTRIC CLOTHES DRYING

CLOTHES LAST LONGER: Less fading, no weather damage to delicate fabrics, just soft, friendly tumbling in a smooth, round drum.

SANITARY CLEANLINESS: No soot, dust, dirt, rain streaking or air-borne bacteria. Flameless drying is clean as electric light.

FRESH SMELLING: Fluffy-dry clothes from the flameless electric dryer have no odor, come out as sweet and fresh as all outdoors.

LESS IRONING: New dryers operate at lower temperatures with greater air movement, have special settings for various synthetic fabrics. Most items can be taken from the dryer, folded and put away.

INSTALL ANYWHERE: No need to maintain old-fashioned basement laundry rooms. Flameless dryers can be installed where they will save steps—kitchen, bathroom, anywhere!

See the new flameless dryers at your favorite dealer's soon!

HOW TO WRITE A GOOD CLASSIFIED WANT AD

- 1—IT'S ALWAYS BEST to let your advertisement carry the name of the article or service you have to offer. If you have an apartment or room for rent or property for sale, state the advertisement to include the price.
- 2—BE CLEAR. Readers respond more quickly and favorably when given complete or detailed information. One of the most important aspects of an advertisement is to include a price.
- 3—MAKE IT EASY for the reader to reach you. Always insert your telephone number, your name and address. If you do not have regular hours, insert a preferred time to have prospects contact you.
- 4—THE GREATEST READER ATTENTION can be secured by your advertisement by using a "classified" insert. Place a seven-day order in best position. There are also special monthly rates for those who are desirous of keeping their name and offering before the public every day. You can stop your ad in the middle of the month, and then you pay for the days it is published.
- 5—PLACE YOURSELF in the reader's position and use your own words. You will know what you would like to know (about your offer). In answer you give will make good classified ads.
- 6—CLASSIFIED readers are ready interested in buying or new merchandise. The people have the money and are already in the market. So give them every advantage you can with good ad copy.
- 7—WANT ADS THAT FAIL to bring satisfaction do so through any lack of reader interest. They are careless enough and do not contain enough information to get prompt action.
- 8—TO PLACE YOUR AD in the Times-News, call or write the greatest Classified Want Ad Service in Magic Valley, 733-0931 or one of the Times-News phone numbers. You live in an area where it's as easy as calling a friend because our Ad-takers are schooled to be helpful in all matters. Remember: You get Days for the price of 1.
